On Anniversary of Birth*

Abraham Lincoln

Photograph of Lincoln about the time he met Grant in 1864.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was born 127 years ago on February 12, in Hardin-co, Kentucky.

But words he spoke are as pertinent as though he spoke them only today.

The issue—as Lincoln foresaw—would remain forever the same, a contest between those who have and those who have not—or, as he put it, between right and wrong. He said:

"It is the eternal struggle between these two principles—right and wrong—throughout the world. They are the two principles that have stood face to face from the beginning of time, and will ever continue to struggle. He pointed out:

"The one is the common right of humanity, and the other the divine right of kings. It is the same principle in whatever shape it develops itself. It is the same spirit that says, 'You toil and work and earn bread, and I'll eat it.'"

States' Rights

Concerning states' rights, Lincoln remarked:

"By the way, in what consists the special sacredness of a state? I speak not of the position assigned to a state in the Union by the constitution; for that, by the bond, we all recognize.

"I speak of that assumed primary right of a state to rule all which is less than itself, and ruin all which is larger than itself.

"What mysterious right to play tyrant is conferred on a district of country, with its people, by merely calling it a state?"

Views On Labor

Lincoln, speaking of the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, labor, in the structure of government, said:

"It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital; that nobody labors, unless somebody else, owning capital, somehow, by the use of it, induces him to labor. . . .

"Now, there is no such relation between capital and labor as assumed. . . .

"Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed.

"Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the higher consideration.

"Capital has its rights, which are as worthy of protection as any other rights.

"Now it is denied that there is, and probably always will be, a relation between labor and capital, producing mutual benefits.

"The error is in assuming that the whole labor of the community exists within that relation. A few men own capital, and that few avoid labor themselves, and with their capital hire or buy another few to labor for them. . . ."

Unconstitutional Measures

Referring to criticism of "unconstitutional measures", Lincoln responded:

"It was in the oath that I took, that I would, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States. I could not take office without taking the oath. Nor was it my view that I might take an oath to get power, and break the oath in using power. . . .

"I did understand, however, that my oath to preserve the constitution to the best of my ability imposed upon me the duty of preserving, by every indispensable means, that government—that nation—or which the constitution was the organic law. (But) was it possible to lose the nation and yet preserve the constitution? By general law, life and limb must be protected, yet often a limb must be amputated to save a life; but a life is never wisely given to save a limb.

"I felt that measures, otherwise unconstitutional, might become lawful by becoming indispensable to the preservation of the nation. Right or wrong, I assumed this ground, and now avow it.

"I could not feel that, to the best of my ability, I had even tried to preserve the constitution, if, to save slavery or any minor matter, I should permit the wreck of government, country and constitution, all together."

WALLACE IN WARNING

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 12—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, defending constitutionality of the administration's new farm bill, warned today of dangers of a "judicial dictatorship."

He asserted it is "the duty of citizens and officers of government to point out the error of the court" when the court makes decisions which these citizens and officers believe erroneous in the light of changing conditions.

TERS today claimed a 60-second lead entering the Illinois presidential primary would give the Idaho senator a preferred place on the ballot in the April 14 primary.

The report to headquarters from Springfield, Ill., was that Sen. William E. Borah's filing was received at 8:30 a. m., and that of Frank Knox, of Chicago, at 8:31. The announcement gave a "favorable" continuation on Page Eight.

High school students saw a world's champion Wednesday morning when George Hoffeld, fastest typer "in existence" for the last eight years, put on a demonstration in an assembly gathering.

Mr. Hoffeld, representing a typewriter company, operated a machine for 20 minutes. He holds a record that includes typing 135 words a minute for 60 minutes on unfamiliar material.

His imitation of a youngster learning to type was interesting to the students.

of Precincts

Delegations of 11 men from Pickaway-twp and three from Saltcreek-twp appeared before the Board of Elections Wednesday afternoon to protest division of the townships into two voting precincts. No protests were entered on the proposed division of the city's first ward, east, and fourth ward, north.

The Pickaway-twp group contended the office at the J. G. Bogg's elevator at Elmwood was too small for a voting place, and inconvenient. Those from Saltcreek stated the division in that precinct would be unnecessary as both sections would still have to vote in the Saltcreek-twp school.

The board received the protests and announced no decision would be made until a later date.

Those in the delegation from Pickaway-twp were; Burr Rader, Ralph Head, Charles Imler, Frank Sharp, George Emerson, Turney Pontius, S. B. Chambers, Otis Leist, Charles Baldosser, Harvey Hinton and Adam Reub.

The Saltcreek-twp group was composed of Frank Strous, Charles Imler and Ed Bowsher.

HITLER ATTACKS
JEWS IN SPEECH
AT NAZI'S GRAVE

BERLIN, Feb. 12—(UP)—Adolf Hitler angrily denounced Jews as a "sinister power" today in delivering the funeral oration at Schwerin for Wilhelm Gustloff, leader of German Nazis in Switzerland, who was assassinated at Davos by David Frankfurter, 26, Jewish medical student from Yugoslavia.

Hitler charged Jews with responsibility for Germany's troubles of the last decade, as well as for political terror. He referred to "the Jewish enemy" as he raised his voice and said:

"But we shall take up the gauntlet."

"You did not die in vain."

Hitler spoke for 15 minutes. His speech was broadcast through Germany. He spoke in a soft, sermon-like voice except when he raised it sharply to refer to Jews and their "sinister" influence. He charged Jews with the "terror and murder" of hundreds of Nazis.

Farmers and rural residents raced ahead of the storm for fresh supplies and prepared for an extended siege.

Corridors

LAKEWOOD, N. J., Feb. 12—(UP)—Two persons were burned to death, nine were injured seriously, at least 20 were overcome by smoke, and an unknown number were missing early today as fire destroyed the Victoria Mansion hotel.

Only the heroism of Police Sgt. John P. Souen was believed to have averted a major disaster. Two hundred guests were asleep in the hotel when the fire was discovered at 6:35 a. m. The southeast wing was a mass of flames from the third to the fifth floor when the first alarm was turned in.

Awakened Guests

Sergeant Souen, aided by civilians, raced through the corridors, kicking in doors and herding guests in night dress into the cold dawn.

Police believed almost all if not all guests were out, but could not be sure. A check was being made of guests who had been taken to private homes and stores. At 8:15 the walls of the five story, frame building were crumbling. It was a ruin.

Nine persons were taken to the hospital. One woman was said to be in a critical condition from burns. Three others were injured seriously when they jumped from upper floor windows. At least 20 were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation and shock.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. This resort town has few

NEW BLIZZARDS
HIT NORTHWESTDrifts Pile High in Dakotas,
Minnesota, Iowa

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—(UP)—Blizzards howled across the Dakotas, Minnesota, and Iowa today and the stricken middlewest prepared for another desperate stand against starvation and cold.

Drifts piled rapidly across freshly-cleared highways and railroad right of ways in Iowa. Fear was felt that fuel shortages, already forcing many families to burn furniture, may become worse.

The cooperative organization was organized last December and applied for a $410,000 loan, which later was increased because of extensions.

The corporation claims 715 applications for service to 850 farms.

The county will operate in conjunction with cooperatives in Miami and Shelby counties, representing a $1,170,000 REA unit.

Contracts have been signed with the Piqua Municipal Light and Power plant to furnish current. Construction contracts already have been let for Miami and Shelby counties and contracts for Champaign-co are expected to be let from Washington within a few days.

Officers of the Champaign-co cooperative are Charles Neer, president; George Hefferline, vice president, and Waldo Zerkle, secretary-treasurer.

State Director Warns All Unwilling to Work of Ultimate Result

FORMEN IN CONFERENCE
Harmount, Graham, Henninger
er Appear in County-Wide Project Confab

Plans for a first aid school for WPA employees and all other interested residents were announced Tuesday evening at a meeting of county project foremen, time-keepers and WPA officials held in the city building.

The school will be similar to one previously conducted under CWA. It will be operated on a 15-hour basis with three-hour sessions. Certificates will be awarded those who attend, and officials believed the school would be of interest to many local industrial workers.

Hartman in Charge

Arthur Hartman, safety inspector for the WPA district, will be in charge of the school. The correct methods of handling tools and means of preventing accidents on projects was the subject of a brief talk given by Mr. Hartman. Pryor R. Harmount, district compensation workmen, spoke on compensation for workmen. The only compensation paid under the WPA setup is on traumatic injuries.

John Graham, district engineer, discussed project problems with the workers, and L. L. Henninger, district director, called attention to rules received at the local office from Carl Watson, state WPA administrator.

In the ruling given out by Watson, he explained the trouble as being an unwillingness on the part of a small proportion of the workers to deliver a fair day's work coupled with a belief that their employment would be continued regardless of their attitude.

"Workers employed on WPA projects are expected to render a conscientious service as they would to a regular government department or a private employer," the ruling reads. Foremen and supervisors are responsible for the work of the men and

ANOTHER HEAVY SNOW EXPECTED IN MIDDLEWEST

Schools Closed in Peoria to Release Coal to Needy Residents

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—(UP)—Inured to cold after 21 bitter days, middle-western rural communities suffering from fuel and coal shortages hustled to obtain supplies today with a new snowstorm threatening.

Sub-zero cold continued over the north central and great plains states and colder weather and snow were forecast for tomorrow.

Main communication lines were cleared of deep drifts which paralyzed the midwest for four days but plows just were battling toward areas served by branch railroad tracks and side roads when more snow was predicted.

Another Drop Seen

A new cold wave spread over northern Wyoming, parts of Montana and southwestern Nebraska. Temperatures moderated in other states but the mercury will drop again tomorrow, weather forecasters said.

"Coal shortages remained acute in Iowa and parts of Illinois. Mayor E. N. Woodruff of Peoria said the city hall and fire stations would be turned into dormitories for families without fuel. Peoria schools were closed to release 75 tons of coal for homes. Some Iowa families were burning furniture to keep one room of their homes warm.

Police guarded coal yards and cars at Marshalltown, Ia., to prevent raids on coal piles.

Many Illinois coal miners were compelled by contracts to meet demands of railroads and industries which have been upped 50 to 75 per cent before shipping to private dealers.

Fear for Nine Men

Fears increased for the safety of nine government workers marooned on a houseboat in the Ohio river near Paducah, Ky., with the river rising and threatening to crush their boat under ice cakes, the men may be forced to flee to Hurricane island, where there is no shelter.

Six ships were jammed in Lake Michigan ice off Muskegon, Mich. They included three car ferries, two freighters and an ice cutter. They will not be able to free themselves until the wind changes.

An airplane and coast guardsmen on foot were unable to locate the frozen bodies of two men who perished on an ice floe when swept out onto Lake Michigan near Charlevoix. Clayton Brown, fisherman, who saw his companions die, was fighting for his life in a hospital after crawling on frozen hands and legs over eight miles of rough shore ice.

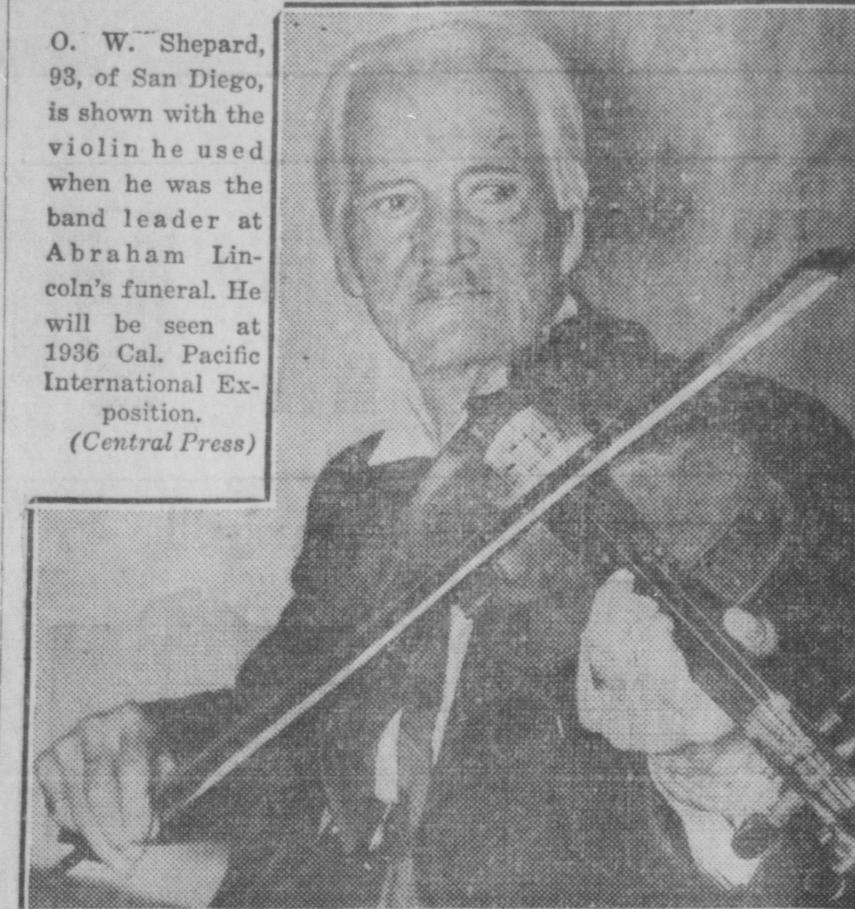

Weather observers said that by tonight snow would blanket Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

Icebergs have been known to take as long as 200 years to melt.

$10 Bank Notes Traced to San Quentin's Walls

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Cal., Feb. 12—(UP)—Secret service agents following a trail of spurious $10 bank notes continued a search today for a San Quentin guard they believed may be implicated in the operations of a prison counterfeiting ring.

Activities of the group, which reportedly manufactured bogus bills within the San Francisco bay prison by employing facilities of the San Quentin photo-engraving and print shops, were disclosed by Captain Thomas B. Foster, head of the San Francisco secret service unit.

Three paroled convicts were under arrest and additional arrests were considered likely.

Thomas Bell, 42, San Rafael plumbing shop employee paroled from San Quentin in June, 1935, after sentence for drunken driving and manslaughter, was the first arrested.

He implicated Dan Wilson, 36, San Francisco, who was paroled in May, 1935, after a five year burglary term. Wilson reportedly confessed that he was the "brains" of the ring.

C. L. Parr, 39, was arrested in Sacramento when Wilson said he had received 38 counterfeit bills from him. Parr was paroled last September after a two year term for arson.

These principals figure prominently in the trial of Isadore (Kid Cann) Blumenfeld who is charged with the slaying of Walter Liggett, crusading editor of Minneapolis. Both Liggett's widow and his ten-year-old daughter, Marda, testified at the trial that Blumenfeld was the gunman who shot down Liggett in the driveway of his home. From his sick bed, Gov. Floyd B. Olson denied that he had ever harbored enmity for the slain newspaperman, his one-time ally who later became his severest newspaper critic. The governor's statement was in reply to testimony given by Mrs. Walter Liggett.

BAR ASKS DAVEY TO REVISE STATE VOTING CUSTOM

Cincinnati Association Urges Judges Be Nominated By Petition

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12—(UP)—Nomination of judges for the state Supreme Court, Courts of Appeals and Common Pleas Courts benches by petition, rather than by a partisan primary, as at present, is sought by the Cincinnati Bar association which sent a delegation to confer with Governor Davey on the matter.

Led by A. Julius Freiberg, the group of Cincinnati barristers asked Governor Davey to increase the scope of his special session call to admit legislation to accomplish the petition-system of nomination.

Not Consistent

As it now stands, Freiberg explained, the judges are nominated in a partisan primary but run on a non-partisan ballot in the November election.

"This situation is absurd and incongruous," he said. "Even the political managers would welcome such a change as we propose."

Freiberg said Governor Davey had listened sympathetically to their arguments, but did not say whether he would oblige them by extending the call.

Clyde N. Abbott of Elmer E. Clark, Cincinnati attorneys, accompanied Freiberg as representatives of the Bar association.

ATLANTA

The Ohio board held the movie harmful in that it seeks to arouse passions, emotions and prejudice, and encourages disrespect for the office of president of the United States, and therefore should be rejected for screening in the state.

The film, already shown in several states, was sponsored by the Sentinels of America.

At the same time the adverse ruling was made on the cartoon, another film of a similar type, sponsored by the same group, and entitled, "The Bulwark of Liberty," was approved.

The board said the barred film was ruled out under a regulation which held that it could not approve any film which "ridiculed a public official, the army, navy, or other governmental authority, or which tended to weaken the authority of the law."

SENATE SPEEDS FARM MEASURE TOWARD BALLOT

Minor Amendments to Be Disposed of; Debate Limited on Friday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—(UP)—The senate pushed ahead with the administration farm bill today, expecting to wind up preliminaries in time to have the measure ready for passage Friday.

The absence of several Republican senators for Lincoln's birthday speaking engagements slowed down proceedings and only the less controversial amendments were being acted upon.

A half-dozen amendments, or motions, most of them slated for rejection, are to be disposed of before the senate could act upon the bill itself. They are:

1. The attempt of the Republican floor leader, Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, to have the bill back to the agriculture committee for further study.

2. The McNary substitute to strike out the temporary domestic allotment plan and replace it with a system of embargoes and agricultural tariffs.

3. The substitute by Sen. Tom Connally, D., who favors the export debenture system.

4. The substitute by Sen. Robert Carey, R., Wyo., who is offering his bill for retirement from production of 50,000,000 acres of sub-marginal land.

5. The motion of Sen. L. J. Dickinson, R., Ia., to strike out the section providing for grants to states.

A proposal by Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., to establish a parity between industrial and farm wages and to guarantee sufficient production to care for industrial workers.

At noon Friday a limitation of debate agreement will go into effect. This provides that no senator shall speak more than once or longer than 15 minutes on the bill, nor more than once or longer than 10 minutes on any amendment.

FAMOUS DEPOT IN PERIL

ARCADIA, Cal.—The Santa Fe railway station here, the most filmed station in the world, may be torn down as a result of having been branded as a fire trap by Fire Chief Neills. ANTI-THIEF CLUB OLD

ENFIELD, Conn.—More than $500 is in the treasury of the Endfield Society for the Detection of Thieves and Robbers which was founded 113 years ago, and which still boasts of 300 members. Officials communiques prove that both sides are winning the war in Ethiopia, which should make this one of the most satisfactory of wars.

Invents New Gun

DEVELOPMENT of a new rapid-fire anti-aircraft gun with a range of five miles, an instrument that may have an astounding effect on future wars, is claimed by J. Robert Burns, 27-year-old former aviation mechanic now at work on the gun in Youngstown, O. According to Burns, who has built the gun following two years of experimentation, it can destroy aircraft within a range of five miles and within 1,000 feet of where its shell explodes. He plans to offer the gun for sale to the United States government and to one foreign nation, preferably England.

"Fool Proof" Midget Plane Moves Nearer

Sketches of the new Ford "flivver" plane.

DETROIT.—Realization of dreams for a "fool-proof" midget airplane within reach of the pocketbook of the average citizen moves a step nearer with disclosure that Henry Ford is experimenting with a "flivver plane."

Whether or not Ford ultimately markets such a craft—and he says he does not know whether he will as yet—his interest alone is expected to accelerate plans of other aviation plans of other aviation builders. It may lead to a race to market the first fool-proof midget flyer—if one is not already underway.

Seeks Power Plant

Ford himself explains his experimental ship to find, first of all, "a real power plant" for airplanes. Some aviation experts disagree with him in some respects but nearly all agree the motor car manufacturer's activity in the field will be a boon to the potential midget plane industry.

"The real power plant has yet to be developed," Ford says, "when that is done, we can build any size of a plane around it. When that happens perhaps every man can own a plane."

William Stout, prominent airplane engineer and former designer of Ford's tri-motored ships, declares:

"It's a good start but before the automobile engine can be adapted to the airplane, manufacturers will have to copy airplane motor principles in building auto motors. At present, airplane motors are far more efficient and much lighter than automobile motors. You can fly an airplane with a model-T Ford engine but so far no automobile engine has been developed which would run from San Francisco to the Philippines and back six times without overhauling, as airplanes have done."

Two-Seater

The Ford experimental "flivver" is powered by a modified V-8 automobile motor, stepped up to about 115 horsepower. The fuselage is of conventional type with dual control, room for two passengers in a trim cabin, and it will carry 60 pounds of baggage and enough gas to course about 500 miles. The gasoline cost of a 500-mile hop would be about $6.

There are several radical features, it is reported. The engine is mounted in the rear, connected with the propeller in front by a drive-shaft which runs the full length of the ship. This places the weight balance to the rear, counteracting any tendency to "nose over." There are no rudders at the tail of the ship, but control of both direction and altitude is obtained through a new type of wing tip. The wingspread allows a much lower landing speed, it is said.

By using a new type wing fabric, the weight of the assembly has been reduced to about 11 pounds per horsepower, according to reliable sources.

Aviation Reversed

Summing up his opinion of the future of air travel, Ford asserts the plane industry had reversed the practice of the automobile industry, explaining:

End the old bug-bear of climbing basement stairs a dozen times a day... just to attend the furnace. It isn't necessary. Use BLUE BEACON Coal. It holds fire longer... needs less attention. That is one of its many advantages. BLUE BEACON gives more heat than ordinary coals, too; leaves less ash, less soot. It's more economical to burn.

Why not try a few tons of BLUE BEACON and end those needless trips to the cellar.

HARVEY, BRYAN'S BACKER, IS DEAD

Peritonitis Fatal to Man Who Fought Money System

MONTE NE, Ark., Feb. 12—(UP)—W. H. (Coin) Harvey, who introduced William Jennings Bryan to the 16-1 silver theory and got 53,000 votes for president in 1932, died of peritonitis last night in his hermit's refuge.

He was 84, but vigorous until the last days of his life and a critic to the end of the country's "suicidal money system." Few persons of this generation knew more than his name and fewer attended his economic theories but "Coin" fought every day for reforms he believed would enrich the nation.

An intestinal disorder caused the peritonitis that killed him. He became ill last Friday and was only semi-conscious after midnight Monday. His wife was with him and all of his three children—Thomas W. Harvey and Annette Harvey, of Huntington, W. Va., and Mrs. Marie Hope Hammond, of New York—had telephoned in his last 30 minutes of life.

For several years before he led the "Liberty" party in the national campaign of 1932, and since then, Harvey had lived a recluse's life in Monte Ne. He came here he said to "reflect on what might possibly save civilization."

Harvey was the pioneer advocate of the coining of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 as compared with gold. When Bryan adopted the theory and led one of the most celebrated political campaigns of the country's history on the issue, Harvey was a national figure and leader of a great following. His

When an Automobile Driver Needs a Snowplow!

OTORISTS in many states wish they had snowplows. Photo at the top shows snow-plowed cars along a highway near Cadillac, Mich., and the one below shows a car that got as far as the driveway leading to the garage of a Minneapolis residence, and then had to be abandoned to the furies of the worst blizzard in 50 years. Drifts piled to a height of six or seven feet.

fame and power died with interest in the silver issue. Harvey's tree is not poisonous. Although it has a strong flavor it can be used for making jellies and jams.

Hickory, ash and oak are the most reliable woods to be used for bending purposes. They are treated by steam under pressure.

We desire to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to all neighbors and friends for many expressions of sympathy and for all acts of kindness shown us during the illness and after death of our beloved mother late Mrs. Caroline Susan Rose. We wish to assure them all that we have been deeply appreciated.

WHITE HOUSE PHOTOGRAPHS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT does not like informal press pictures when they show him in an attitude that might be misconstrued. Recently an enterprising "snapper up of unconsidered trifles" took a picture of him that, in the hands of an imaginative caption writer, became something quite different from what it was intended to be and the president was justifiably incensed. Flashlights are blinding affairs and even a president can be weary of shielding his eyes.

The informal photograph, as every snapshotter knows, can be too informal for words, and the later school of photographers who take pictures by hand camera, often without the knowledge of the subject, may produce interesting effects, but they are not necessarily accurate in revelation of intent. Especially should the president be shielded from such possible misconceptions. He is usually a patient man and he knows the avidity of the picture scanners among the reading public as well as do the photographers, yet there should be some mercy. The picture in question shows a tired president; not tired of his job, but tired of the particular glare of an intense light bulb. So from now on the white house photographers must mount their cameras on tripods and pictures can be taken simultaneously by all to get them over with.

It seems a mild enough restriction. Even a president may want to rub his eyes occasionally.

WEATHER NOTE

SPEAKING of the weather, if anyone was what a turn it must have given the people of El Paso, Texas, as they shivered in a below freezing temperature, to read that the practically arctic village of Anchorage, Alaska, was enjoying it at 45 above.

It upset our geographical notions about the weather. We usually think the farther north the colder, the farther south the warmer. This is true generally, but there are things to overturn the generalization. The water of the oceans is warmer in winter and colder in summer than the continental land areas. In winter the west coast of America gets warm westerly winds from the Pacific, which is warmed by an equatorial current. In the same way the British Isles and Western Europe are warmed by winds from the Gulf Stream drift. In the interior of America, Europe and Asia there is what is called "continental weather," with greater extremes of climate than are found on the west coasts. The continental weather is not uniform because of the influence of the air masses known as "highs" and "lows" that travel over the country.

WORLD AT A GLANCE

Charles P. Stewart

Senator George W. Norris' "honest," but I don't like to imply that the others are DIS-honest. Rather they are open to the suspicion of bias, which he isn't.

At 74, it is not even assured that he is a candidate for re-election to the senate, though as good an authority as President Roosevelt says that Nebraska should continue sending him to Washington as long as he lives. He is not an insurgent Democrat; he always has been elected as a Republican, though in reality an independent. Yet he is a pro-Roosevelt independent. Notwithstanding his objection to Farley, he still is pro-Roosevelt. Indeed, he complains of Farley less for himself alone than because he considers him a New Deal blight and peril.

AN ANOMALY

The queerest part of it is that President Roosevelt apparently has been from the first in agreement with Norris on the proposition that politics and public office should not mix.

Early in his term the president established the rule that chairmen of state Democratic party committees must not accept federal appointments without surrendering their chairmanships. Otherwise, as he justly pointed out, they would be open to the charge of filling merit positions with Republican criticism also is recognized as to be expected.

Mr. McDowell Talks at Eastern Star Meeting

Lincoln Subject of Interesting Program

A program in celebration of Lincoln's birthday was enjoyed by members of Circleville chapter Order of the Eastern Star Tuesday evening following their regular business meeting.

An interesting review of the Life of Lincoln was given by W. E. Hilyard. He illustrated his talk with slides and was assisted by Sam Morris.

Following Mr. Hilyard's talk, the guest speaker, George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, gave a splendid address using as his subject "Lincoln, the Patriot."

Mr. McDowell gave a short resume of the life of Lincoln and called attention to the grave of Lincoln's mother, which is in a small cemetery in Indiana. The grave is marked with a monument presented by a "Friend of the President" in 1877.

The speaker stated that one of the reasons Lincoln is so loved is the fact that he represents the type of person we would all like to be—that he is worthy of emulation.

"Lincoln was fair and direct in speech and action, steadfast in principle, sympathetic and charitable. A man of strict morality his life was devoted to the good of his fellowmen. One of the greatest tragedies was that of his assassination at the hands of half-crazed actors."

Mr. McDowell concluded his talk by saying that we should remember the day of his birth with reverence and respect.

Refreshments were served in the dining room during a social hour by a committee comprised of Mrs. G. H. Adkins, Mrs. W. E. Hilyard, and Mrs. Robert Denman.

Rineharts Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin S. Rinehart, S. Scioto-st, pleasantly entertained the members of their church club at their home Tuesday evening.

Three tables of the planned diversion were in play with high score favors going to Mrs. Rinehart and Russell Miller. Lunch was served at a late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fitzpatrick, Elm-ave., will be hosts to the club in two weeks.

Hostess to Club

Mrs. Robert Ekins and Mrs. Lawrence Goeller were winners of high score favors at the close of the interesting bridge game in play at the home of Mrs. C. R. Hunsicker, Montclair-ave., Tuesday afternoon.

Guests were members of her two table club. Miss Winifred Parrett invited the club to her home next week.

Club Fair Friday

Plans have been completed for the Pickaway County club fair to be held at the club house Friday evening beginning at 7:30 o'clock.

MARIAN MARTIN FROCK OF SEMI-HOUSE SEMI-SPORTS TYPE MOST PRACTICAL

PATTERN 9773

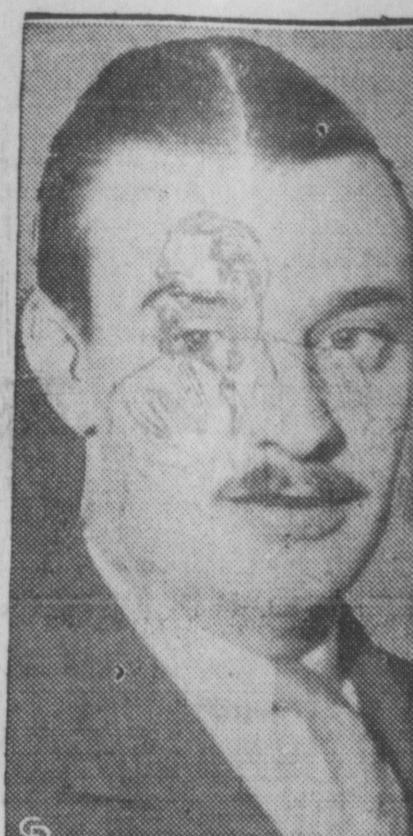

With Spring almost upon us it's high time we looked about for a frock of semi-house, semi-sports type with which to greet warmer days. Then look no further, says Marian Martin, for here's a smart and flattering a style for house-work, informal hostessing, gardening, as for playing tennis and watching from the sidelines. Versatile—isn't it—and oh, so easy to make! Fancy yourself in a crisp, pique version, a soft pastel with contrasting white or light yoke. Linen, shantung, or any of the novelty cottons that are fast to sun and suds are on the fabric calendar and yours for the choosing. Yours to triumph in, too, and enjoy for many months to come. Complete, Diagrammed Marian Martin Sew Chart included.

Pattern 9773 may be ordered only in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 7 1/2 yards 36 inch fabric and 5% yards contrasting.

Be sure to send for our NEW PATTERN BOOK and see how easily your Spring wardrobe can reflect the latest fashions! Dozens of smart models for every occasion—some sketched, some photographed. Lovely new fabrics and to make best use of them. New costume accessories. Smart slumbering attire. Clothes and hints. Patterns for the whole family. PRICE OF BOOK FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND A PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Send your order to The Herald, Pattern Department, 210 N. Court-st., Circleville, Ohio.

Radio Announcer Engaged

JEAN ROGERS, young motion picture actress, has disclosed her engagement in Hollywood to James Wallington, radio announcer, now on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Roger Jury gave a reading, "An Inventor's Wife."

Another playlet, "And the Lamp Went Out," concluded the entertainment. Characters were portrayed by Katherine Quince, Betty French, Nelson Warner, Mary Stuckey, and Maurice Jury.

The meeting closed with prayer by the leader, Mrs. J. R. Kirkpatrick.

Refreshments were served by the hostess and her assistants, Ruth Esther Gard and Mrs. Charles Hurt.

Famed Actor to Deliver Lincoln's Talk at 6:30

Charles Laughton to Bring Back Memories of "Ruggles of Red Gap"; Giannini, Lum and Abner to Be Guests

Charles Laughton, British actor, whose reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was one of the dramatic highlights of the motion picture, "Ruggles of Red Gap," will deliver the famous oration in a program for the school children of America on Lincoln's birthday, Wednesday, February 12, over an NBC-WJZ network at 6:15 p. m. Laughton previously had turned down many radio offers to give the address.

Laughton's recitation will be brought to America from London. The actor will go directly from the movie sound stage at Elstree, England, where he is working on a British picture, to the London studios of the British Broadcasting Corporation, whence the address will be shortwaved across the Atlantic.

Laughton's reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, the high spot of his picture, "Ruggles of Red Gap," was arranged through the corporation of M-G-M, for whom he is a featured actor.

A contrasting picture of winter-time reports in regions where zero weather is considered quite balmy and a place where everyone begins to shiver when the thermometer plunges downward to 70, will be given to radio listeners on Sunday, February 16, as the Magic Key roams the world over in NBC-WJZ network at 2 p.m.

Visits will be paid to frost-bitten Montreal and to St. Mortiz in the Alps, and to Miami, Florida, where an announcer will speak of gentle breezes and a warm sun and the smiling, cloud-flecked skies to bring anguish to all ice-bound listeners.

Another feature of the broadcast will be the first visit of Lum and Abner to the Big City. The meandering citizens of Pine Ridge, who actually will be in New York for the program, will tell of some of their adventures and impressions of life as it is lived in the city.

Lusolina Giannini, noted operatic soprano, also will be heard, with Frank Elack and the NBC Symphony Orchestra; John B. Kennedy, commentator, and Milton J. Cross, master of ceremonies, in their regular roles.

A scene from "Green Pastures" featuring the famous Hall Johnson Choir will be highlight of Al Johnson's variety show on Saturday. Robert Wildhack, comedian, and Grace Saxon, singer, are other guest stars who will be heard in the broadcast over a WEAF-NBC network at 9:30 p. m.

"Green Pastures" is now being filmed in Hollywood and the Hall Johnson Choir, best known Negro singing group in the country, will be imported from the movie lot for the broadcast. They will supply musical effects and background for the dramatic scene from the folk play.

FOR THE

ASKEY NAMES COMMISSION TO HANDLE BOXING

ve Men Appointed; Activity
for C. A. C. Tournament
Gaining Speed

Charles Caskey, safety director and a former member of several local boxing commissions, today pointed a commission to serve ring his administration. The commission will be active especially in the boxing tournament being planned by the Circleville Athletic club on March 2. The men appointed are Dr. D. Jackson, William Fitzpatrick, John S. Ritt, John Rooney, and Frank Lynch. No chairman is designated, this being left to the commissioners.

The members will serve at the pleasure of the safety director. In the meantime, plans are going forward for the tournament, which will be for amateurs only. Mr. Hussey, chief of the C. A. C. committee, announced Wednesday at Loring ("Jaggy") Davis will be in charge of boxers representing the Athletic club.

Any members of the club who are to enter under the purple of the C. A. C. should contact Davis. Mr. Terhune, C. A. C. member, former heavyweight champion at Ohio State, and a Golden Gloves tournament winner, will help Davis. Terhune has been drilling several of his Jackson-twp boys in the art of fisticuffs. Whether any will enter the tournament is not certain.

The only heavyweight entered so far is John L. "Doc" Ferguson. Clubs and business houses are urged to sponsor boxers. Any entry by a boxer under age must be accompanied by written permission from parents or guardians.

An entry blank is found elsewhere in The Herald today.

ARDER SIGNS CONTRACT; SETS $13,000 PER YEAR

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12.—(UPI)—A portion of the holdout ranks by Harder, ace of the Cleveland coaching staff, today left the Indians with only four unsigned players.

Harder, who had asked for a one year contract for $15,000, reached an agreement with President Alva Bradley late yesterday. It was given a two year contract and was reported to call for $13,000 each season.

The contract awarded Harder is one of the largest ever given a Cleveland pitcher. The highest salary ever drawn by an Indian bantam was $18,000 which Wesley Ferrell, now with Boston, received one year.

Harder won 22 games for the Indians last season and 20 in 1934.

Indians who have not signed contracts yet are Johnny Allen, catcher obtained from the New York Yankees in a trade for Monte Pearson; Willis Hudlin, another hurler who won 15 games last season; Second baseman Roy Hughes and Jimmy Gleeson, rookie outfielder.

RECORD OF CAPITAL U. AT HOME OUTSTANDING

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12.—Although defeated three times away from home Capital university's Ohio conference basketball quintet has yet to be beaten on its home floor. The Lutherans have won six contests in Loy gym: defeating Franklin U., Ohio Northern, Findlay, Hiram, Bowling Green, and Kenyon. The three losses away from home have been to Marietta, Findlay, and Otterbein.

The Lutherans good cage record can be attributed to a varsity of five. The Heischman brothers from Albany have been leading the point tallying parade averaging 22 points between them per game, but Paul Schellhaas, Youngstown, Paul Long, Waldo, and Eldon Cooperider, St. Petersburg, W. Va. have all scored at least 40 points. Only Muskingum and Otterbein remain on the conference schedule, both home games.

About This And That In Many Sports

What of Scioto-Twp

What effect the closing of the Scioto-twp school by a diphtheria scare will have on the county basketball tournament is not known—if Dr. Kerns, county health officer, finds continuation of the quarantine necessary, it is probable the Scioto boys will not play in the annual tournament—if the cagers are given a clean slate, they will be ready for the second round, since they drew a bye through the first series of games * * *

Strong, Fast Crew

It will be remembered the Scioto team, though not champion, upset the tournament last year by defeating New Holland after Shadel Saunderson's boys bumped Ashville. Three members of that team are back in the harness, Wilson, Raso, and Finch. Smokie Williams is ably taking the place of Slick Gulick while Neal and Beavers are doing well at the post left by Herbie Hoover. We doubt if there is a better ball-handling crew in the county than the Commercial Point cagers * * *

Fight Game Returning

Does appointment of a boxing commission mean the fisticuff games are coming back in Circleville? — If a promoter can be obtained who will put the boys in the ring that he advertises, it seems that Circleville should be a good fight town. Others in Central Ohio have showed fine gains with wrestling added as an attraction * * *

63 Near Record

Basketball became an inter-collegiate sport at Wooster college in 1901 and the 63 points the University of Akron scored against it recently was one of the highest totals ever registered against the Scots. — Only twice previously, both in 1914 when a fraternity fight wrecked the Wooster team, has a Scot team had as many points scored on it. — The record scores of 1914 were compiled by Denison, which beat Wooster 83 to 8 and 84 to 8 * * *

Bender May Return

One of baseball's most colorful figures may be a part of Ohio's baseball picture this spring—Albert "Chief" Bender, the Indian who gained major league fame with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, is mentioned as the probable manager of the Akron team in the Mid-Atlantic league. Bender will not be a stranger to Ohio diamond fans as he became a familiar figure in 1932 when he managed the Erie (Pa.) team in the Central league. — Bender has had a varied career—After his baseball days ended he was an instructor at the U. S. Naval Academy and later a golf professional * * *

C. A. C. TO MEET UNION-CO TEAM

Marysville Tigers Invade Local Gymnasium Monday

The Athletic Club basketball team has booked tough competition for next Monday evening when the Marysville Tigers, aided by Norm Wagner, Herb Hutchinson and several other Capital city league stars, travel to the local court.

Marysville boasts a fast and dangerous team and will test the improving Club cagers.

The C. A. C. has knocked off its last two opponents, Chillicothe and Washington C. H.

Dick Robinson, booking games for the Athletic club, is still angling for a fray with Waterloo.

DOG CLUB PICKS APRIL 4 AND 5 FOR BIG FIELD TRIAL

Plans of the American Wildlife Institute for organization of various county associations and clubs into a local unit was explained by Ed Rausenberger, sportsman, at a special meeting of the Pickaway Dog club held Tuesday night in the Leach Motor Co. garage.

He gave members of the club an interesting address on the Chuckor partridge, the bird sportsmen plan to introduce in the county this spring. Information Mr. Rausenberger obtained at the institute meeting last week in Washington, D. C., showed the bird would be ideal for this type of country.

The club's annual spring field trials have been definitely set for April 4 and 5. They will be held at the Kinderhook site.

JACKSON EDGES WALNUT VARSITY

Speakman's Bucket in Last
30 Seconds is Decisive

Jackson-twp boys were primed today for county tournament competition after bumping off the fighting Walnut-twp crew, 25-24, in a thriller on the Fox Post Office court Tuesday evening.

Jackson meets Washington-twp in the tourneys' first game.

There were never more than four points between the teams at any time. Walnut led 14-10 at halftime.

A basket by Speakman, Jackson guard, in the last 30 seconds of play, gave victory to Coach Bob Terhune's boys.

Walnut girls, one of the four teams to get into the girls' tourney, gave Jackson a lesson, 35-7. Walnut is the only team in the county able to plaster a date on the Derby girls.

COUNTY STUDENT WINS GRAPPLING HONORS AT C. S. U.

A Pickaway-twp athlete is pushing all competitors in intramural circles of Ohio State University.

Mace Brown is recognized as the heavyweight wrestling champion of the University in the class B division.

Brown came through his final match in the "heavy" ranks with colors flying pinning Grant Walbott of Cleveland in 3 minutes and 2 seconds.

He came out fast to nail his taller opponent with a footballer's leg drop and immediately slapped on a half Nelson combined with a crotch hold. The up-state grappler struggled furiously but he was completely subdued by the fast and strong Pickaway lad.

Coach "Spike" Mooney of the wrestling team sees great prospects for this newcomer. Considering the fact that Brown has had very few lessons in wrestling, his showing was outstanding.

Enemies aren't so bad. They slander us, but they aren't the ones who come and tell us about it.

ASHVILLE TEAM WINS 39-18 OVER FRANKLIN-CO FIVE

The lower half of Al Kauber's lineup turned on the heat Tuesday evening to defeat Hamilton-twp, Franklin-co, 39-18, in a game on the Ashville court. The center and guards contributed 29 of the winning points.

Ashville reserves pegged out a 25-9 victory over the Hamilton reserves.

SWITZERLAND GAINS TOP PLACE IN BOB-SLED RACE

GARMISCH - PARTENKIR - CHEN, Germany, Feb. 12.—(UPI)

Piloted by Pierre Musi, son of the Swiss president, Switzerland captured the highly coveted four-man bobsled title of the fourth winter Olympic games today.

America's entries scored points in the unofficial standings when J. Hubert Stevens of Lake Placid, N. Y., making his asserted final competitive run, piloted the U. S. No. 1 bob to fourth place, while Francis Tyler, also of Lake Placid, steered the No. 2 sled to sixth.

Hollywood has discovered the classics

There are several distinct advantages, producers have found, in drawing upon literature's immortals for movie yarns. First, and most obvious, is the fact that the stories are exceptional, else they would not have withstood the rigors of the years.

Secondly, the titles are famous and have box-office drawing power. Thirdly, there's generally no royalty to pay for the rights; for a modern story property this entails the expenditure of anywhere from five to a hundred thousand dollars.

The latest film based on such a work is Columbia's "Crime and Punishment," showing today at the Cliftona theatre. It was written by Fyodor Dostoevsky, the Russian genius, about seventy years ago.

AT THE GRAND

Edward Everett Horton, star of Universal's gay comedy, "His Night Out," had to learn to pilot a plane to play his role in the production, which is being shown at the Grand theatre. Don't get excited, however—for it was a model plane, which he launched in a hospital to cheer a group of youngsters confined there.

COUNTY FARMERS WARNED OF HIGH SEED CORN PRICES

LEWIS SPEAKER AS 25 GATHER IN FARM OFFICE

Moisture Too High for Crop to Withstand Cold; Soil Erosion Aired

Pickaway-co farmers, who purchase seed corn, will pay exceptionally high prices in the opinion of R. D. Lewis of the crops department, O.S.U., who spoke on hybrid corn Tuesday evening at a meeting of young farmers in the Farm Bureau offices.

The speaker explained a survey over Ohio showed an average of 20 per cent of moisture, an amount too high for the corn to withstand the sub-zero temperatures. He warned the farmers to make extensive tests before planting the corn they have saved for seed.

Twenty-five farmers attended the meeting.

Fertility of Pickaway-co soil is reduced about one per cent each year by crops and erosion, according to figures compiled Tuesday at the Farm Bureau offices by the county land use planning committee.

The committee is studying the 1929 and 1934 farm census to work out a county crop program through which the fertility of the soil will be maintained.

Further reports of the committee will be given at a meeting scheduled for Feb. 18.

LEGION NOT TO ASSIST IN FIGHT FOR PENSIONS

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(UP)—The American Legion will not unite with other veterans' organizations in a fight for passage of a general pension law, Ray Murphy, national commander of the Legion, said today.

"That the passage of the bonus payment law will be the signal for a fight for passage of a general pension law is an utterly unfounded fear," Murphy said. "The Legion will participate in no such action."

Murphy said only one out of the "many thousands" of letters he had received since his election favored a general pension law.

Diamonds Valued at $5,000 Stolen From Couple

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—(UP)—Jackie Coogan, former movie actor, and his fiance, Betty Grable, 18-year-old screen actress, were robbed of diamond rings valued at $5,000 by gunmen who stopped their automobile in the street today.

The actors, whose romance has received wide publicity since he inherited $1,000,000 on his twenty-first birthday, have been appearing at a theater here. They were returning to their hotel from a supper club at another hotel when gunmen forced their car to the curb.

"One of the men, a goodlooking, well-dressed young fellow with a black muffler below his eyes, came over to the car and pointed a big black gun at me," Coogan told police. "Then he got into the car and shoved the gun into Betty's face."

Lincoln's Words Recalled On Anniversary of Birth

Abraham Lincoln

Photograph of Lincoln about the time he met Grant in 1864.

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was born 127 years ago on February 12, in Hardin-co, Kentucky.

But words he spoke are as pertinent as though he spoke them only today.

The issue—as Lincoln foresaw—would remain forever the same, a contest between those who have and those who have not—or, as he put it, between right and wrong. He said:

"It is the eternal struggle between these two principles—right and wrong—throughout the world. They are the two principles that have stood face to face from the beginning of time, and will ever continue to struggle. He pointed out:

"The one is the common right of humanity, and the other the divine right of kings. It is the same principle in whatever shape it develops itself. It is the same spirit that says, 'You toil and work and earn bread, and I'll eat it!'"

* * * *

States' Rights

Concerning states' rights, Lincoln remarked:

"By the way, in what consists the special sacredness of a state? I speak not of the position assigned to a state in the Union by the constitution; for that, by the bond, we all recognize. . . .

"I speak of that assumed right of a state to rule all which is less than itself, and ruin all which is larger than itself. . . .

"What mysterious right to play tyrant is conferred on a district of country, with its people, by merely calling it a state?"

* * * *

Views On Labor

Lincoln, speaking "of the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, labor, in the structure of government," said:

"It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital; that nobody labors, unless somebody else, owning capital, somehow, by the use of it, induces him to labor. . . .

"Now, there is no such relation between capital and labor as assumed. . . .

"Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed.

"Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the higher consideration.

"Capital has its rights, which are as worthy of protection as any other rights.

"Now is it denied that there is, and probably always will be, a relation between labor and capital, producing mutual benefits.

"The error is in assuming that the whole labor of the community exists within that relation. A few men own capital, and that few avoid labor themselves, and with their capital hire or buy another few to labor for them. . . ."

* * * *

Unconstitutional Measures

Referring to criticism of "unconstitutional measures", Lincoln responded:

"It was in the oath that I took, that I would, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect and defend the constitution of the United States. I could not take office without taking the oath. Nor was it my view that I might take an oath to get power, and break the oath in using power. . . .

"I did understand, however, that my oath to preserve the constitution to the best of my ability imposed upon me the duty of preserving, by every indispensable means, that government—that nation—of which the constitution was the organic law. (But) was it possible to lose the nation and yet preserve the constitution? By general law, life and limb must be protected, yet often a limb must be amputated to save a life; but a life is never wisely given to save a limb.

"I felt that measures, otherwise unconstitutional, might become lawful by becoming indispensable to the preservation of the nation. Right or wrong, I assumed this ground, and now avow it.

WALLACE IN WARNING

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 12—(UP)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace, defending constitutionality of the administration's new farm bill, warned today of dangers of a "judicial dictatorship."

He asserted it is "the duty of citizens and officers of government to point out the error of the court" when the court makes decisions which these citizens and officers believe erroneous in the light of changing conditions.

The Pickaway-twp group contended the office at the J. G. Boggs elevator at Elmwood was too small for a voting place, and inconvenient. Those from Saltcreek stated the division in that precinct would be unnecessary as both sections would still have "vote" in the Saltcreek-twp school.

The board received the protests and announced no decision would be made until a later date.

Those in the delegation from Pickaway-twp were: Burr Rader, Ralph Head, Charles Imler, Frank Sharp, George Emerson, Turney, Pontius, S. B. Chambers, Otis Leist, Charles Baldosser, Harvey Hinton and Adam Reub.

The Saltcreek-twp group was composed of Frank Strous, Charles Imler and Ed Bowsher.

Delegations of 11 men from Pickaway-twp and three from Saltcreek-twp appeared before the Board of Elections Wednesday afternoon to protest division of the townships into two voting precincts. No protests were entered on the proposed division of the city's first ward, east, and fourth ward, north.

The Pickaway-twp group continued a 60-second lead entering the Illinois presidential primary would give the Idaho senator a preferred place on the ballot in the April 14 primary.

The report to headquarters from Springfield, Ill., was that Sen. William E. Borah's filing was received at 8:30 a. m., and that of Frank Knox, of Chicago, at 8:31.

HITLER ATTACKS JEWS IN SPEECH AT NAZI'S GRAVE

BERLIN, Feb. 12—(UP)—Adolf Hitler angrily denounced Jewry as a "sinister power" today in delivering the funeral oration at Schwerin for Wilhelm Gustloff, leader of German Nazis in Switzerland, who was assassinated at Davos by David Frankfurter, 26, Jewish medical student from Yugoslavia.

Hitler charged Jews with responsibility for Germany's troubles of the last decade, as well as for political terror. He referred to the "Jewish enemy" as he raised his voice and said:

"But we shall take up the gauntlet."

"You did not die in vain."

Hitler spoke for 15 minutes. His speech was broadcast through Germany. He spoke in a soft, sermon-like voice except when he raised it sharply to refer to Jews and their "sinister" influence. He charged Jews with the "terror and murder" of hundreds of Nazis.

The report lists real estate at $3,900, accounts receivable $1,028.85, securities $273.89 and personal goods $45. J. M. Hatfield, Ancil Crownover and S. J. Kendrick were appraisers, and Ray W. Davis is administrator of the estate.

STUDENTS ENTERTAINED BY CHAMPION TYPIST

High school students saw a world's champion Wednesday morning when George Hoffield, fastest typewriter in existence for the last eight years, put on a demonstration in an assembly gathering.

Mr. Hoffield, representing a typewriter company, operated a machine for 20 minutes. He holds a record that includes typing 135 words a minute for 60 minutes on unfamiliar material.

His imitation of a youngster learning to type was interesting to the students.

200 Routed From Sleep By Officer Who Runs Through Corridors

LAKWOOD, N. J., Feb. 12—(UP)—Two persons were burned to death, nine were injured seriously, at least 20 were overcome by smoke, and an unknown number were missing early today as fire destroyed the Victoria Mansion hotel.

Only the heroism of Police Sergt. John P. Souen was believed to have averted a major disaster. Two hundred guests were asleep in the hotel when the fire was discovered at 6:35 a. m. The southeast wing was a mass of flames from the third to the fifth floor when the first alarm was turned on.

Awakened Guests

Sergeant Souen, aided by civilians, raced through the corridors, kicking in doors and herding guests in night dress into the cold dawn.

Police believed almost all not all guests were out; but could not be sure. A check was being made of guests who has been taken to private homes and stores. At 8:15 the walls of the five story, frame building were crumbling. It was a ruin.

Nine persons were taken to the hospital. One woman was said to be in a critical condition from burns. Three others were injured seriously when they jumped from upper floor windows. At 8:20 were treated at the scene for smoke inhalation and shock.

Cause of the fire was undetermined. This resort town has few

NEW BLIZZARDS HIT NORTHWEST

Drifts Pile High in Dakotas, Minnesota, Iowa

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—(UP)—Blizzards howled across the Dakotas, Minnesota, and Iowa today and the stricken middlewest prepared for another desperate stand against starvation and cold.

Drifts piled rapidly across freshly-cleared highways and railroad right of ways in Iowa. Fear was felt that fuel shortages, already forcing many families to burn furniture, may become worse.

Farmers and rural residents raced ahead of the storm for fresh supplies and prepared for an extended siege.

Many of Iowa's 500 mines, reopened only yesterday, may be forced to close in the face of the new storm. Wood supplies are exhausted.

Officers of the Champaign-co cooperative are Charles Neer, president; George Hefferline, vice president, and Waldo Zerkle, secretary-treasurer.

WEATHER HEAVY IN EXPECTED MIDDLEWEST

Boats Closed in Peoria to Release Coal to Needy Residents

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—(UP)—Bitter cold after 21 bitter days, middle-western rural communities suffering from fuel and coal shortages hustled to obtain supplies today with a new snowstorm threatening.

Sub-zero cold continued over the central and great plains states and colder weather and snow were forecast for tomorrow. Main communication lines were covered by deep drifts which paralyzed the midwest for four days. It is now known that the railroads, areas served by branch railroads, tracks and side roads when snow was predicted.

Another Drop Seen

A new cold wave spread over western Wyoming, parts of Montana and southwestern Nebraska. Temperatures moderated in other states but the mercury will drop again tomorrow, weather forecasters said.

Coal shortages remained acute in Iowa and parts of Illinois. Mayor E. N. Woodruff of Peoria said the city hall and fire stations would be turned into dormitories for families without fuel. Peoria schools were closed to release 75 tons of coal for homes. Some Iowa families were burning furniture to keep one room of their homes warm.

Police guarded coal yards and cars at Marshalltown, Ia., to prevent raids on coal piles.

Many Illinois coal miners were compelled by contracts to meet demands of railroads and industries which have been upped 50 to 75 percent before shipping to private dealers.

Fear for Nine Men

Fears increased for the safety of government workers marooned on a houseboat in the Ohio river near Paducah, Ky. with the river rising and threatening to dash their boat under ice cakes, men may be forced to flee to nearby islands, where there is shelter.

Shipwrecks were jammed in Lake Michigan ice off Muskegon, Mich., included three car ferries, freighters and an ice cutter. They will not be able to free themselves until the wind changes.

An airplane and coast guardsmen on foot were unable to locate the frozen bodies of two men who perished on an ice floe when swept onto Lake Michigan near Marquette. Clayton Brown, fisherman, who saw his companions die, is fighting for his life in a hospital after crawling on frozen mud and legs over eight miles through shore ice.

Weather observers said that by night snow would blanket the region. Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Missouri, Iowa, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, Nebraska and Kansas.

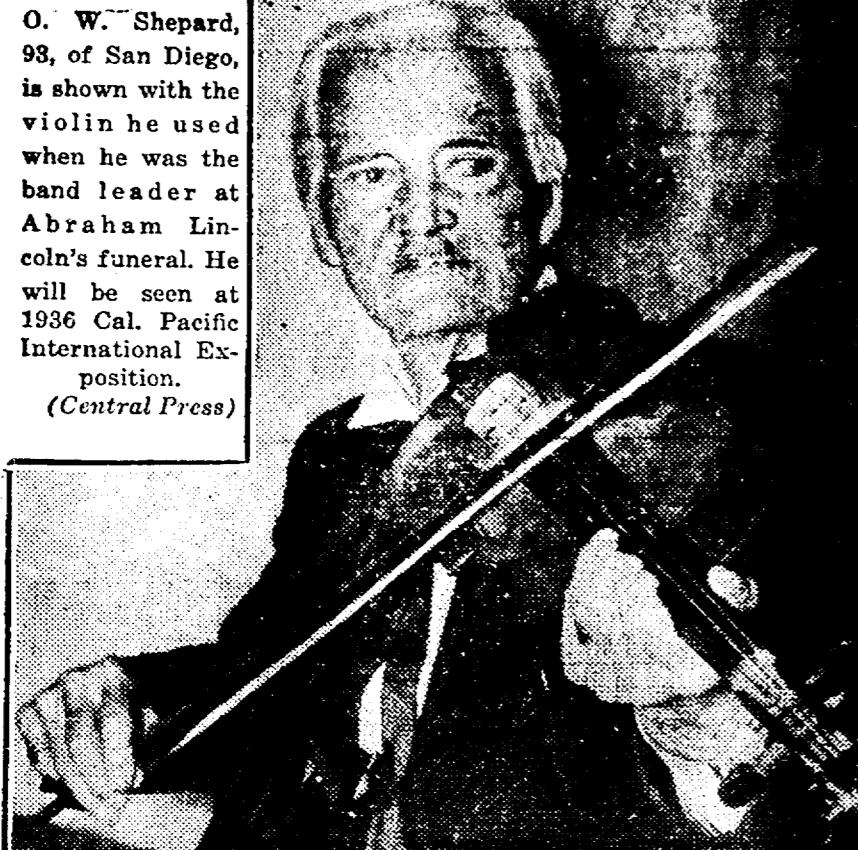

Icebergs have been known to be as long as 200 years old.

JAIL HUNTED FOR SPURIOUS MONEY

CARTOON HITTING NEW DEAL BARRED IN OHIO

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12—(UP)—Showing of the "Amateur Firm Brigade," anti-new deal animated cartoon, was prohibited by the Ohio Board of film censorship to day.

The Ohio board held the movie was harmful in that it seeks to arouse passions, emotions and prejudice, and encourages disrespect for the office of president of the United States, and therefore should be rejected for screening in the state.

The film, already shown in several states, was sponsored by the Sentinels of America.

At the same time the adverse ruling was made on the cartoon, another film of a similar type, sponsored by the same group, and entitled, "The Bulwark of Liberty," was approved.

The board said the barred film was ruled out under a regulation of the board adopted several years ago which held that it could not approve any film which "ridiculed a public official, the army, navy, or other governmental authority, or which tended to weaken the authority of the law."

BAR ASKS DAVEY TO REVISE STATE VOTING CUSTOM

CINCINNATI ASSOCIATION URGES JUDGES BE NOMINATED BY PETITION

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12—(UP)—Nomination of judges for the state Supreme Court, Courts of Appeals and Common Pleas Courts benches by petition, rather than by a partisan primary, as at present, is sought by the Cincinnati Bar association which sent a delegation to confer with Governor Davey on the matter.

Led by A. Julius Freiberg, the group of Cincinnati barristers asked Governor Davey to increase the scope of his special session call to admit legislation to accomplish the petition-system of nomination.

NOT CONSISTENT

As it now stands, Freiberg explained, the judges are nominated in a partisan primary but run on a non-partisan ballot in the November election.

"This situation is absurd and incongruous," he said. "Even the political managers would welcome such a change as we propose."

Freiberg said Governor Davey had listened sympathetically to their arguments, but did not say whether he would oblige them by extending the call.

Clyde N. Abbott and Ralph E. Clark, Cincinnati attorneys, accompanied Freiberg as representatives of the Bar association.

SENATE SPEEDS FARM MEASURE TOWARD BALLOT

Minor Amendments to Be Disposed of; Debate Limited on Friday

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—(UP)—The senate pushed ahead with the administration farm bill today, expecting to wind up preliminaries in time to have the measure ready for passage Friday.

The absence of several Republicans from Lincoln's birthday speaking engagements slowed down proceedings and only the less controversial amendments were being acted upon.

A half-dozen amendments, or motions, most of them slated for rejection, are to be disposed of before the senate could act upon the bill itself. They are:

1. The attempt of the Republican floor leader, Sen. Charles L. McNary of Oregon, to have the bill back to the agriculture committee for further study.

2. The McNary substitute to strike out the temporary domestic allotment plan and replace it with a system of embargoes and agricultural tariffs.

3. The substitute by Sen. Tom Connally, D., who favors the export debenture system.

4. The substitute by Sen. Robert Carew, R., Wyo., who is offering his bill for retirement from production of 50,000,000 acres of sub-marginal land.

5. The motion of Sen. L. J. Dickinson, R., Ia., to strike out the section providing for grants to states.

6. A proposal by Sen. Robert F. Wagner, D., N. Y., to establish a parity between industrial and farm wages and to guarantee sufficient production to care for industrial workers.

At noon Friday a limitation of debate agreement will go into effect. This provides that no senator shall speak more than once or longer than 15 minutes on the bill, nor more than once or longer than 10 minutes on any amendment.

Invents New Gun

DEVELOPMENT of a new rapid-fire anti-aircraft gun with a range of five miles, an instrument that may have an astounding effect on future wars, is claimed by J. Robert Burns, 27-year-old former aviation mechanic now at work on the gun in Youngstown, O. According to Burns, who has built the gun following two years of experimentation, it can destroy aircraft within a range of five miles and within 1,000 feet of where its shell explodes. He plans to offer the gun for sale to the United States government and to one foreign nation, probably England.

"Fool Proof" Midget Plane Moves Nearer

Sketches of the new Ford "flivver" plane.

DETROIT.—Realization of dreams for a "fool-proof" midget airplane within reach of the pocketbook of the average citizen moves a step nearer with disclosure that Henry Ford is experimenting with a "flivver plane."

Whether or not Ford ultimately markets such a craft—and he says he does not know whether he will as yet—his interest alone is expected to accelerate plans of other aviation plans of other aviation builders. It may lead to a race to market the first fool-proof midget flyer—if one is not already underway.

Seeks Power Plant

Ford himself explains his experimental ship to find, first of all, "a real power plant" for airplanes. Some aviation experts disagree with him in some respects but nearly all agree the motor car manufacturer's activity in the field will be a boon to the potential midget plane industry.

"The real power plant has yet to be developed," Ford says, "when that is done, we can build any size of a plane around it. When that happens perhaps every man can own a plane."

William Stout, prominent airplane engineer and former designer of Ford's tri-motored ships, declares:

"It's a good start but before the automobile engine can be adapted to the airplane, manufacturers will have to copy airplane motor principles in building auto motors. At present, airplane motors are far more efficient and much lighter than automobile motors. You can fly an airplane with a model-T Ford engine but so far no automobile engine has been developed which would run from San Francisco to the Philippines and back six times without overhauling, as airplanes have done."

Two-Seater

The Ford experimental "flivver" is powered by a modified V-8 automobile motor, stepped up to about 115 horsepower. The fuselage is of conventional type with dual control, room for two passengers in a trim cabin, and it will carry 60 pounds of baggage and enough gas to cover about 500 miles. The gasoline cost of a 500-mile hop would be about $6.

There are several radical features, it is reported. The engine is mounted in the rear, connected with the propeller in front by a drive-shaft which runs the full length of the ship. This places the weight balance to the rear, counteracting any tendency to "nose over." There are no rudders at the tail of the ship, but control of both direction and altitude is obtained through a new type of wing tip. The wingspread allows a much lower landing speed, it is said.

By using a new type wing fabric, the weight of the assembly has been reduced to about 11 pounds per horsepower, according to reliable sources.

Aviation Reversed

Summing up his opinion of the future of air travel, Ford asserts the plane industry had reversed the practice of the automobile industry, explaining:

"So far as the plane itself has been concentrated upon and a workable power plant installed in it. The motor of the automobile

HARVEY, BRYAN'S BACKER, IS DEAD

Peritonitis Fatal to Man Who Fought Money System

MONTE NE, Ark., Feb. 12—(UP)—W. H. (Coin) Harvey, who introduced William Jennings Bryan to the 16-1 silver theory and got 53,000 votes for president in 1932, died of peritonitis last night in his hermit's refuge.

He was 84, but vigorous until the last days of his life and a critic to the end of the country's "suicidal money system." Few persons of this generation knew more than his name and fewer attended his economic theories but "Coin" fought every day for reforms he believed would enrich the nation.

An intestinal disorder caused the peritonitis that killed him. He became ill last Friday and was only semi-conscious after midnight Monday. His wife was with him and all of his three children—Thomas W. Harvey and Annette Harvey, of Huntington, W. Va., and Mrs. Marie Hope Hammond, of New York—had telephoned in his last 30 minutes of life.

For several years before he led the "Liberty" party in the national campaign of 1932, and since then, Harvey had lived a recluse's life in Monte Ne. He came here, he said, to "reflect on what might possibly save civilization."

Harvey was the pioneer advocate of the coinage of silver at a ratio of 16 to 1 as compared with gold. When Bryan adopted the theory and led one of the most celebrated political campaigns of the country's history on the issue, Harvey was a national figure and leader of a great following. His

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT does not like informal press pictures when they show him in an attitude that might be misconstrued. Recently an enterprising "snapper up of unconsidered trifles" took a picture of him that, in the hands of an imaginative caption writer, became something quite different from what it was intended to be and the president was justifiably incensed. Flashlights are blinding affairs and even a president can be weary of shielding his eyes.

The informal photograph, as every snapshotter knows, can be too informal for words, and the later school of photographers who take pictures by hand camera, often without the knowledge of the subject, may produce interesting effects, but they are not necessarily accurate in revelation of intent. Especially should the president be shielded from such possible misconceptions. He is usually a patient man and he knows the avidity of the picture scanners among the reading public as well as the photographers, yet there should be some mercy. The picture in question shows a tired president; not tired of his job, but tired of the particular glare of an intense light bulb. So from now on the white house photographers must mount their cameras on tripods and pictures can be taken simultaneously by all to get them over with.

It seems a mild enough restriction. Even a president may want to rub his eyes occasionally.

WEATHER NOTE

SPEAKING of the weather, if anyone was what a turn it must have given the people of El Paso, Texas, as they shivered in a below freezing temperature, to read that the practically arctic village of Anchorage, Alaska, was enjoying it at 45 above.

It upset our geographical notions about the weather. We usually think the farther north the colder, the farther south the warmer. This is true generally, but there are things to overturn the generalization. The water of the oceans is warmer in winter and colder in summer than the continental land areas. In winter the west coast of America gets warm westerly winds from the Pacific, which is warmed by an equatorial current. In the same way the British Isles and Western Europe are warmed by winds from the Gulf Stream

Senator George W. Norris' warning that James A. Farley, as postmaster general, will cost President Roosevelt "millions of votes" next November is a suggestion that plenty of Democratic politicians wish the White House would heed.

On the other hand there are competent political judges who believe it is too late to unload Farley now.

They wanted him jettisoned couple of years ago, which would have given the public time to forget his cabinet connection. At the present writing, however, they reason that the damage he has done cannot be repaired, and that dumping him overboard simply would amount to an admission that it ought to have been done sooner.

NORRIS IS IMPARTIAL

No one else could have deplored the postmaster general nearly as effectively as the Nebraska senator.

Pro-administration Democrats cannot afford to deplore him at all.

It is taken for granted that independent Democratic statesmanship anticipates him; that brand of criticism also is to be expected.

Senator Norris certainly is ahead of the word

BORAH DECIDES TO ENTER OHIO PRIMARY AFTER KIDDING GOT UNDER HIS SKIN

WASHINGTON—William Edgar Borah has one of the toughest hides, politically, in the Senate. But it was a basketful of cabbages hurled in his direction which finally goaded him into entering the Ohio primary.

A few weeks ago Borah passed out the word that he would stay out of Ohio. To enter meant a categorical announcement that his hat was in the ring. For Ohio is the only state in the Union where a candidate must sign his own filing papers.

Borah's negative decision brought forth considerable kidding. The Senator from Idaho was accused of "being too old"; of "having cold feet"; of "not being a serious contender"; of "never going through with what he starts".

This is old stuff to Borah. But this time it got under his usually indifferent skin. He sent word to Ohio backers that he had changed his mind.

Later, Borah encountered a newspaperman who remarked: "Well, Senator, I see you have finally decided to become a candidate."

"What do you mean, 'finally decided to become a candidate'?" shot back Borah. "I've been a candidate all along. I guess I'll have to wear a sign on my back saying 'I AM A CANDIDATE!'"

NOTE—Two such cases are pending now.

JOHN ROOSEVELT

Here is one told by members of the Roosevelt family on their father.

Young John Roosevelt was home from Cambridge on a brief vacation. Arrayed in a necktie which outdid the crimson of Harvard and with socks to match, he went in to see his father.

"Good heavens!" wailed the President; "Where did you get that terrible color combination? Take them back to Moscow!"

A few minutes later Mrs. Roosevelt came in, eyed her youngest-born, and perhaps remembering the debonair Harvard days of his father when she first fell in love with him, she replied:

"Well, John, you're getting more like your father every day."

drift. In the interior of America, Europe and Asia there is what is called "continental weather," with greater extremes of climate than are found on the west coasts. The continental weather is not uniform because of the influence of the air masses known as "highs" and "lows" that travel over the country.

As a matter of fact, several state chancellors were compelled to resign their chairmanships, to qualify for federal posts that they covet.

BUT FARLEY CONTINUES

But, from the beginning of the Roosevelt administration, its national political chairman, James A. Farley, of 48 times the importance of any single state chairman, has functioned as postmaster general.

There has been a continual yowl about it, of course.

In the meantime the postal service, neglected utterly as a service, has gone completely to hades. Anyone who relies on a daily handful of mail is aware how hopelessly it is disorganized. Many patrons thought that its efficiency had hit a minimum low under Walter Brown, Farley's predecessor; they know better under Farley.

EMPLOYEES FIGHT ON

Brown surely did do his best toward subordinating the postal service to politics.

But he was an amateur in comparison with Farley.

The postal rank-and-file has fought like blazes to maintain its integrity. It is to the clerks and messengers and carriers that the public is indebted to any service whatever.

AN ANOMALY

The queerest part of it is that President Roosevelt apparently has been from the first in agreement with Norris on the proposition that politics and public office should not mix.

Early in his term the president established the rule that chairmen of state Democratic party committees must not accept federal appointments without surrendering their chairmanships. Otherwise, as he justly pointed out, they would be open to the charge of filling merit positions with political favorites.

With All My Heart

BY SARA CHRISTY

READ THIS FIRST:

Thora Dahl, who has left her home in Minnesota and journeyed east, obtains a position as housekeeper for an eccentric gentleman named Selwyn Marsh, who lives in suburban New York. She is to replace a Mrs. Myron, who is going on a long vacation. Mrs. Myron tells Thora that Dottie Steele, a nearby widow, has designs on Selwyn Marsh. Mrs. Myron departs. That afternoon Thora encounters a stranger in the drawing room.

CHAPTER 10

THE INTRUDER in the living room wheeled with a start. His dark eyes widened, his jaw dropped in astonishment. He recovered himself instantly and his wide mouth quirked in a smile.

"Of all things!" he exclaimed softly. Then: "I hope I didn't disturb you."

"Did you wish to see someone?" The housekeeper's tone was distinctly formal.

"Not until just now." He still was staring.

"I did not hear you ring." Thora suggested pointedly. "May I ask who you are?"

"That's too easy." The man inhaled deeply on his cigarette, blew the smoke thoughtfully from his puckered lips. "I can think of a much more important question. Who might you be? Please do tell me."

Her first look at the stranger's face told Thora there was nothing to fear, even were she inclined to be timid. He was unquestionably a gentleman. His lean face was deeply tanned and there was a suggestion of a twinkle in his eyes as he waited for an answer. She obliged him with a reserved:

"I am Mr. Marsh's housekeeper."

"You don't mean it! Who'd have . . . But, I say! Whatever has become of Mama Myron?"

"Mrs. Myron is on a vacation."

"So . . . they've been holding out on me," he murmured, blinking thoughtfully at Thora. With an abrupt move, he left the piano bench and walked to a nearby coffee table. There was an ash tray on it and he slowly ground the end of his cigarette against the polished brass. He turned and faced the girl who stood motionless, watching him.

Gordon may have sensed that a change of subject was in order.

"Do you happen to know when Wilma . . . Miss Marsh . . . is expected home?"

"Next week, I think."

"We'll call that my excuse for dropping in. You see, Wilma and I are old friends. I was about to say that we grew up together, but that really is not complimentary to one of her tender years. I should say that I helped bring her up . . . when I had a chance. She's been away so much . . . school, one thing and another . . ."

"Yes?"

"You'd better sit down. I like talking to you."

"No, thank you."

"I'm wondering . . ." Gordon drew out his cigar case and extended it inquiringly. When Thora declined, with a shake of her blond head, he lighted one for himself. "I was about to remark that I wondered how old Selwyn would make out now, having Wilma here. She's apt to keep things stirred up. That won't be so good for friend Jephthah."

"Jephthah!" Thora was startled into exclaiming.

"That's the guy. If you haven't ever heard of him, save your apologies for Selwyn."

"Why, I've heard the name. It's in the Bible . . ."

"Oh, that Jephthah. You mean the one that gambled his daughter against a decision over the Philistines . . . something of the sort. I haven't been here very long, that's sure."

"No, I have not."

"And, now that I'm identified," he said.

You will have to excuse me, Mr. Gordon."

you haven't heard of Jephthah Marsh. Just between ourselves, few have. Selwyn dug him up during one of his unexplainable forays into musty records. At the time, he was looking about for some new hobby to sink his teeth in. I never knew him to bother much with family trees, that sort of thing. But he's gone for this in a big way. He always does . . . too bad he doesn't have to work for a living. He'd take things so much easier."

"Was this Jephthah Marsh one of his ancestors?" Thora inquired, interested in spite of herself.

"Well, if he isn't, he will be before Selwyn is finished with him. Seems he was one of the embattled farmers that took his musket down from the antlers when our British friends made some sort of a foray into some place in Jersey, I believe. From what I can gather, history hasn't done right by Jep. If it hadn't been for him, we'd still be wearing the yoke. However, Selwyn is fixing all that. He has a book in mind . . . printed at his own expense."

"It sounds interesting," the housekeeper ventured politely.

"A kindly way of putting it. Selwyn's rather a bore, you know. One good thing . . . his spasms never last long. You can spasms never last long. You can do yourself a lot of good by listening starry-eyed to his ravings. But you'll be letting yourself in for a lot, too. On the whole, I don't recommend a show of interest. Well . . ." He glanced at his strap watch and got to his feet.

"Since you won't sit down and converse in comfort, Miss Dahl, I shall leave you. I'm so glad that I have met you at last . . ."

"I beg your pardon." The blue eyes darkened again, ominously this time.

"Of course. I meant only that I had been away for a few days and had lost out on the neighborhood news. We'll be seeing each other again. Oh, yes . . . I will leave by the front door."

With another good-natured smile for his hostess, Gordon strolled into the hall.

"Goodby," he called over his shoulder.

The effectiveness of the antitoxin treatment depends upon using it as early as possible. The tragedies are almost always due to delay in the use of antitoxin, either because a diagnosis has not been made, or a sore throat in a child has been neglected or disregarded, or because of the prejudice of the parents.

I have letters from plenty from parents and grandparents—sad, heartbroken—telling of the tragedy of some little child who went along with what they considered a minor illness for three or four days. No physician was called until it was evident the child was desperately sick. When diphtheria is discovered at this period chances for the effectiveness of antitoxin are greatly diminished.

Children with diphtheria are frequently not nearly as sick at first as those with tonsillitis. They are not as prostrated and often the throat is not as sore. Under any circumstances, it does no harm to investigate the cause of a sore throat or unusual weakness or disinclination to play in the case of a child from three to ten years.

The morning is very unfavorable. Avoid saying what you might be sorry for later. There is an improvement in influences in the afternoon. It is good for pleasurable enterprises.

Mr. McDowell Talks at Eastern Star Meeting

Lincoln Subject of Interesting Program

A program in celebration of Lincoln's birthday was enjoyed by members of Circleville chapter Order of the Eastern Star Tuesday evening following their regular business meeting.

An interesting review of the Life of Lincoln was given by W. E. Hilyard. He illustrated his talk with slides and was assisted by Sam Morris.

Following Mr. Hilyard's talk, the guest speaker, George D. McDowell, superintendent of county schools, gave a splendid address using as his subject "Lincoln, the Patriot."

Mr. McDowell gave a short resume of the life of Lincoln and called attention to the grave of Lincoln's mother, which is in a small cemetery in Indiana. The grave is marked with a monument presented by a "Friend of the President" in 1877.

The speaker stated that one of the reasons Lincoln is so loved is the fact that he represents the type of person we would all like to be—that he is worthy of emulation.

"Lincoln was fair and direct in speech and action, steadfast in principle, sympathetic and charitable. A man of strict morality his life was devoted to the good of his fellowmen. One of the greatest tragedies was that of his assassination at the hands of a half-crazed actor."

Mr. McDowell concluded his talk by saying that we should remember the day of his birth with reverence and respect.

Refreshments were served in the dining room during a social hour by a committee comprised of Mrs. G. H. Adkins, Mrs. W. E. Hilyard, and Mrs. Robert Denman.

Rineharts Entertain

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin S. Rinehart, S. Scioto-st, pleasantly entertained the members of their Euchre club at their home Tuesday evening.

Three tables of the planned diversion were in play with high score favors going to Mrs. Rinehart and Russell Miller. Lunch was served at late hour.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Fitzpatrick, Elm-ave, will be hosts to the club in two weeks.

Hostess to Club

Mrs. Robert Ekins and Mrs. Lawrence Goeller were winners of high score favors at the close of the interesting bridge game in play at the home of Mrs. C. R. Hunsicker, Montclair-ave, Tuesday afternoon.

Guests were members of her two table club. Miss Winifred Parrett invited the club to her home next week.

Radio Announcer Engaged

JEAN ROGERS, young motion picture actress, has disclosed her engagement in Hollywood to James Wallington, radio announcer, now on the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Roger Jury gave a reading, "An Inventor's Wife."

Another playlet, "And the Lamp Went Out," concluded the entertainment. Characters were portrayed by Katherine Quince, Betty French, Nelson Warner, Mary Stuckey, and Maurice Jury.

At the next meeting of the grange, Feb. 18, a covered-dish supper will follow the session instead of a box social as previously planned. Each member is to bring a covered-dish and sandwiches.

Washington P. T. A.

Washington-twp Parent-Teacher association will have its annual foundation program Monday evening at 7:30 o'clock in the school auditorium.

Dr. Charles Lipp will be the guest speaker and give an illustrated lecture on India. A pageant will also be presented.

Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting. Visitors are cordially invited to attend.

Hudson-Fausnaugh

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Emma E. Hudson, daughter of Mr. Frank Hudson of Scioto-twp, to Mr. Lester Fausnaugh, son of Mr. Roy Fausnaugh of Walnut-twp.

The ceremony was read Monday, Feb. 10, in Greenup, Ky. by Rev. J. W. Herald at his home.

Miss Martha Koese of South Bloomfield and Charles Huston of Robinton attended the couple.

Mrs. Fausnaugh is a graduate of Scioto-twp high school, class of 1932.

They will make their home in Scioto-twp on the T. L. Cromley farm.

Benefit Card Party

The Parent-Teacher association of Wayne-twp is planning a benefit card party Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the school auditorium. Prizes will be awarded high score winners in bridge and euchre. Reservations for the affair should be made by Saturday noon with the committee chairman, Mrs. Clarence McAbee.

Assisting Mrs. McAbee with arrangements are Mrs. Roy Ritter, Mrs. Walter Metzger, Mrs. Harry Cupp, Mrs. William Hoffman, Mrs. Clarence Dean, Mrs. Ezra Myers, and Miss Mary Katherine Betz.

Terwilliger Hosts

Mr. and Mrs. Meeker Terwilliger, E. Main-st, entertained a small group of friends informally at their home Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. David Jones and Henry Eichinger were invited for dinner. Bridge was enjoyed at two tables after the dinner hour. Additional guests for the game were Miss Marlene Howard, Mrs. B. T. Hedges, and Dr. F. C. Schaefer.

Prizes were awarded Mr. and Mrs. Jones for high scores. Dainty refreshments were served.

Guild Meeting

Miss Mary Ellen Kirkpatrick, E. Franklin-st, was hostess Tuesday evening when members of the Oberlein Guild of the United Brethren church met at her home for their monthly session.

Miss Kirkpatrick, president, called the meeting to order after which prayer was voiced by Miss Lucille Kirkwood. A business session was conducted and the program on China which followed was in charge of Miss Mary Elizabeth Groce.

Since it is the custom of the Chinese to sip tea from visiting from house to house, the group followed this Oriental custom and also talked of the Kingdom Affairs in China.

During the serving Miss Kirkwood sang "My Faith Looks Up to Thee." The different cup bearers of the king were then told by members of the Guild, and the remainder of the program consisted of song, "I Would Be True," by the group; "Our Work in Canton," Virginia Timmons; silent prayer;

Valentine colors and suggestions were carried out in the appointments. Contract bridge was enjoyed and prizes for high scores were awarded Mrs. Charles Fullen and Mrs. Floyd Hook. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the afternoon's play.

Guests invited to the lovely party were Mrs. Charles Smith, Miss Marlene Howard, Mrs. Fullen, Mrs. Clarence Hott, Mrs. John Bell, Mrs. G. D. Phillips, Mrs. L. B. Davison, Miss Marlene Holderman, Mrs. Max Friedman, Mrs. Hook, Mrs. David Jones, Miss Margaret Mattinson, Miss Gretchen Moeller, Miss Lucile Neuding, Miss Esther Riegel, Miss Mary Heffner, Miss Bernadine Lutz, Miss Bess Fry, Mrs. Mary Beck, Miss Gertrude Pigman, Mrs. Lawrence Goeller, Miss Winifred Parrett, Mrs. Allen Thornton, and Mrs. Harold Grant.

In the evening members of Mrs. Adams' card club and Mrs. Neil Barton were her guests.

Two tables of cards were in play with prizes going to Mrs. Ernest Weiler and Mrs. Robert Norpath. Refreshments were served after the game.

Loyal Daughters Class

Mrs. Samuel Steele, Miss Gladys Noggle, and Mrs. Ira Valentine were hostesses at the February meeting of the Loyal Daughters class of the United Brethren church Tuesday evening at Mrs. Steele's home on E. Mound-st.

The session opened with song and prayer followed by Scripture reading by Mrs. Nolan Sims. Readings were given by Miss Noggle, Mrs. Walter Mavis, Mrs. L. B. Dancy, Mrs. Robert Greisheimer and Mrs. Helen Davis.

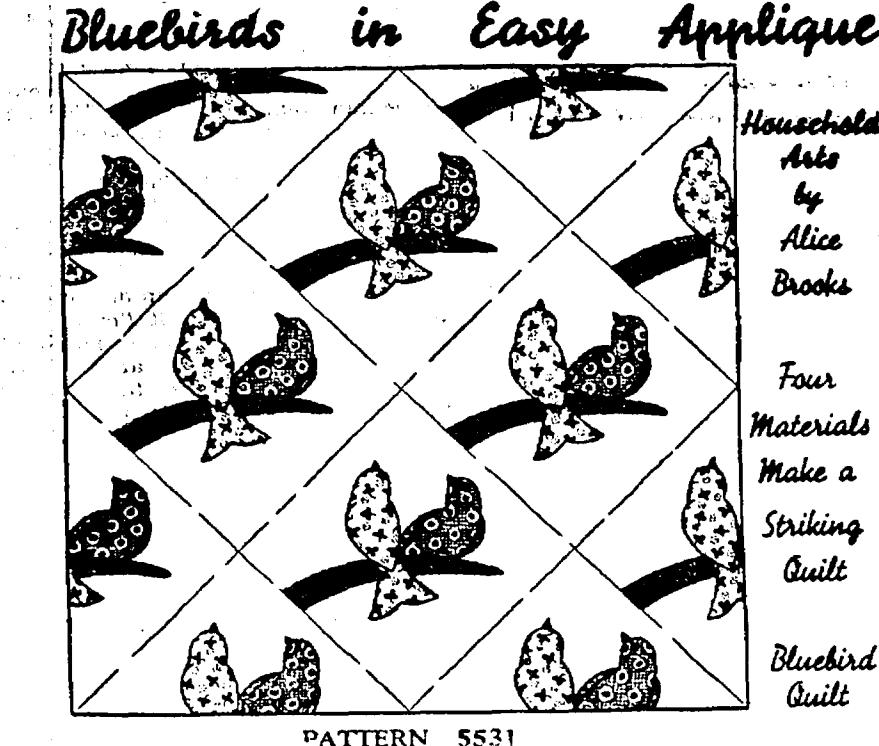

Mrs. Bernard Martin was a visitor. Twenty members answered the roll call and one new member was added, Mrs. Helen Davis.

Mrs. Frank Hawkes had the wonder box which was won by Mrs. Alice Harrison and other contestants which followed were won by Mrs. Elliott Mason and Mrs. Bernard Martin.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses. Decorations were in keeping with Valentine's Day.

The March session will be held at the home of Mrs. Elliott Mason on E. Franklin-st with Mrs. Hazel Johnson and Miss Mabel Heise as assisting hostesses.

Miss Bernice Heiman of Buffalo, N. Y. returned Tuesday to her home after visiting since last Thursday with Miss Elizabeth Dunlap, W. Franklin-st. She accompanied Miss Dunlap and her father on their trip to Florida returning with them last week.

Country Club's Place In Community Assured

Description of Civic Asset Given By Chairman of Friday Night's Valentine Party; Membership Increasing

By FELIX CALDWELL
(Valentine Party Chairman)

The Pickaway Country club is an institution of which this community can well be proud. Centrally situated within a mile of the county seat, on an improved road, its accessibility is all that could be desired. The grounds contain 103 acres of beautiful rolling land flanked on a portion of the East side by a grove of virgin timber, while a never-failing stream bordered with trees, winds its way across. Except in mid winter, a portion of this stream is turned into a picturesque little lake.

Nature had already laid out a golf course here and provided her own hazards leaving only the construction of greens and fairways to make it ideal. This man has done. No better greens are found on any course, the fairways are equal to most and getting better each year, and this coupled with its natural hazards, its pleasing aspect, and the conveniences that have been installed make it one of the most popular golf courses in southern Ohio.

The club house, located on a knoll almost in the center of the grounds, mid a setting of beautiful maples, is modern and convenient and affords a grand view in all directions. Here, one may enjoy good meals, entertain friends and parties, and avail himself of the good things generally offered by a country club. The "nineteenth hole" with its large open fire place and other antiques is not only unique in itself but also useful and much enjoyed. Then there is the "old barn." This is a huge bank barn, well and conveniently located that has been remodeled and appropriately lighted and decorated, where dances are held each summer and where conventions and other public gatherings can meet.

For those of its members whose interest extends in other directions the club has provided a good tennis court and shuffle-boards. In spite of the huge crowds that at times attend some functions there is plenty of parking space. In fact, few country clubs of any size, anywhere, can offer their members more in natural beauty, conveniences, and good entertainment than can be found here. That this is becoming more generally appreciated is attested by the fact that more than forty new members joined last year. This present year bids fair to be the best yet. With a competent caterer in charge of the cuisine and a real Pro in charge of golf activities, the old members are showing an increased interest and many new members are in prospect. The future of the club with all it means to the community seems assured.

Med Actor to Deliver Lincoln's Talk at 6:30

Charles Laughton to Bring Back Memories of "Ruggles of Red Gap"; Giannini, Lum and Abner to Be Guests

Charles Laughton, British actor, whose reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address was one of the dramatic highlights of the motion picture, "Ruggles of Red Gap," will deliver the famous oration in a program for the school children of America on Lincoln's birthday, Wednesday, February 12, 6:15 p. m. Laughton previously had turned down many radio offers to give the address.

Laughton's recitation will be brought to America from London. The actor will go directly from the movie sound stage at Elstree, England, where he is working on a British picture, to the London studios of the British Broadcasting Corporation, whence the address will be shortwaved across the Atlantic.

Laughton's reading of Lincoln's Gettysburg address, the high spot of his picture, "Ruggles of Red Gap," was arranged through the corporation of M-G-M, for whom he is a featured actor.

A contrasting picture of winter-time reports in regions where zero weather is considered quite balmy and a place where everyone begins to shiver when the thermometer plunges downward to 70, will be given to radio listeners on Sunday, February 16, as the "Magic Key" roams the world over in NBC-WJZ network at 2 p. m.

Visits will be paid to frost-bitten Montreal and to St. Mortiz in the Alps, and to Miami, Florida, where an announcer will speak of gentle breezes and a warm sun and the smiling, cloud-flecked skies to bring anguish to all ice-bound listeners.

Another feature of the broadcast will be the first visit of Lum and Abner to the Big City. The meandering citizens of Pine Ridge, who actually will be in New York for the program, will tell of some of their adventures and impressions of life as it is lived in the city.

Lusolina Giannini, noted operatic soprano, also will be heard, with Frank Black and the NBC Symphony Orchestra; John B. Kennedy, commentator, and Milton J. Cross, master of ceremonies, in their regular roles.

A scene from "Green Pastures" featuring the famous Hall Johnson Choir will be highlight of Al Jolson's variety show on Saturday. Robert Wildhack, comedian, and Grace Paxton, singer, are other guest stars who will be heard in the broadcast over a WEAF-NBC network at 9:30 p. m.

"Green Pastures" is now being filmed in Hollywood and the Hall Johnson Choir, best known Negro singing group in the country, will be imported from the movie lot for the broadcast. They will supply musical effects and background for the dramatic scene from the folk play.

CATTLE FEEDERS ARRANGING TOUR, DINNER MARCH 27

Pickaway-co cattle feeders have selected March 27 as the tentative date for their annual tour and banquet. Arrangements are being considered to cover the western section of the county and hold the banquet in New Holland.

Mr. McCann predicted a stronger market within the next sixty days explaining many of the "in and out" feeders would sell within that period and prices on good, well-finished cattle would be strengthened.

Twenty feeders attended the meeting held in the Farm Bureau offices.

ASKEY NAMES COMMISSION TO HANDLE BOXING

Men Appointed; Activity
for C. A. C. Tournament
Gaining Speed

Charles Caskey, safety director and a former member of several local boxing commissions, today pointed a commission to serve in his administration. The commission will be active especially in the boxing tournaments being planned by the Circlele Athletic club on March 2. The men appointed are Dr. D. Jackson, William Fitzpatrick, John S. Ritt, John Rooney, and Frank Lynch. No chairman is designated, this being left to the commissioners.

The members will serve at the pleasure of the safety director.

In the meantime, plans are going forward for the tournament, which will be for amateurs only.

Mr. Hussey, chief of the C. A. C. committee, announced Wednesday at Loring "Jaggy" Davis will be in charge of boxers representing the Athletic club.

Any members of the club who are to enter under the purple of the C. A. C. should contact Davis. Terhune, C. A. C. member, former heavyweight champion at Ohio State, and a Golden Gloves tournament winner, will help Davis. Terhune has been drilling several of his Jackson-twp boys in the art of fistcuffs. Whether any will enter the tournament is not known.

The only heavyweight entered so far is John L. "Doc" Ferguson. Clubs and business houses are asked to sponsor boxers. Any entry in a boxer under age must be accompanied by written permission from parents or guardians.

An entry blank is found elsewhere in the Herald today.

ARDER SIGNS CONTRACT; GETS $13,000 PER YEAR

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12—(UP)—Retention of the holdout ranks by Harder, ace of the Cleveland Indians, staff, today left the Indians with only four unsigned players.

Harder, who had asked for a one year contract for $15,000, reached an agreement with President Alvin Bradley late yesterday. It was given a one year contract, which was reported to call for $13,000 each season.

The contract awarded Harder is one of the largest ever given a Cleveland pitcher. The highest salary ever drawn by an Indian bantam was $18,000, which Les Ferrell, now with Boston, received one year.

Harder won 22 games for the Indians last season and 20 in 1934.

Indians who have not signed contracts yet are Johnny Allen, former obtained from the New York Yankees in a trade for Monte Pearson; Willis Hudlin, another hurler who won 15 games last season; Second baseman Roy Hughes and Jimmy Gleeson, rookie outfielder.

TICKETS AVAILABLE FOR ANNUAL SNAPPER SUPPER

Memberships for the Pickaway Farmer's and Sportsman's association are now on sale.

Speakers for the annual red snapper banquet to be held in the hills on Feb. 27 will be announced after the meeting of the League of Ohio Sportsmen in Columbus, Feb. 20 and 21. H. E. Betz, president of the local organization, announced today.

Mr. Betz expects to obtain four or five speakers and he explained their speaking time would be limited. Films on conservation work will be shown.

Local delegates to the league meeting are E. L. Hoffman, Duddy Briggs, Ralph Leach and Virgil May. Mr. Betz and Ed Rausenberger also plan to attend.

About This And That In Many Sports

What of Scioto-Twp

What effect the closing of the Scioto-twp school by a diphtheria scare will have on the county basketball tournament is not known—if Dr. Kerns, county health officer, finds continuation of the quarantining necessary, it is probable the Scioto boys will not play in the annual tournament—if the cagers are given a clean slate, they will be ready for the second round, since they drew a bye through the first series of games ***

Strong, Fast Crew

It will be remembered the Scioto team, though not champion, upset the tournament last year by defeating New Holland after Shadel Saunderson's boys bumped Ashville. Three members of that team are back in the harness, Wilson, Rasoar, and Finch—Smoke Williams is ably taking the place of Slick Gulick while Neal and Beavers are doing well at the post left by Herbie Hoover. We doubt if there is a better ball-handling crew in the county than the Commercial Point cagers ***

Fight Game Returning

Does appointment of a boxing commission mean the fistcuff games is coming back in Circleville? — If a promoter can be obtained who will put the boys in the ring that he advertises, it seems that Circleville should be a good fight town. Others in Central Ohio have showed fine gains with wrestling added as an attraction ***

63 Near Record

Basketball became an inter-collegiate sport at Wooster college in 1901 and the 63 points the University of Akron scored against it recently was one of the highest totals ever registered against the Scots. Only twice previously, both in 1914 when a fraternity fight wrecked the Wooster team, has a Scot team had as many points scored on it. The record scores of 1914 were compiled by Denison, which beat Wooster 83 to 8 and 84 to 8 ***

Bender May Return

One of baseball's most colorful figures may be a part of Ohio's baseball picture this spring—Albert "Chief" Bender, the Indian who gained major league fame with Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, is mentioned as the probable manager of the Akron team in the Mid-Atlantic league. Bender will not be a stranger to Ohio diamond fans as he became a familiar figure in 1932 when he managed the Erie (Pa.) team in the Central league. Bender has had a varied career—After his baseball days ended he was an instructor at the U. S. Naval Academy and later a golf professional ***

RECORD OF CAPITAL U. AT HOME OUTSTANDING

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12—Although defeated three times away from home Capital university's Ohio conference basketball quintet has yet to be beaten on its home floor. The Lutherans have won six contests in Loy gym: defeating Franklin U., Ohio Northern, Findlay, Hiram, Bowling Green, and Kenyon. The three losses away from home have been to Marietta, Findlay, and Oberlin.

The Lutherans good cage record can be attributed to a varsity of five. The Helschman brothers New Albany have been leading the point tallying parade averaging 22 points between them per game, but Paul Schellhase, Youngstown, Paul Long, Waldo, and Eldon Cooperider, St. Petersburg, W. Va. have all scored at least 40 points. Only Muskingum and Otterbein remain on the conference schedule, both home games.

G. A. C. TO MEET UNION-CO TEAM

Marysville Tigers Invade Local Gymnasium Monday

The Athletic Club basketball team has booked tough competition for next Monday evening when the Marysville Tigers, aided by Norm Wagner, Herb Hutchinson and several other Capital city league stars, travel to the local court.

Marysville boasts a fast and dangerous team and will test the improving Club cagers.

The C. A. C. has knocked off its last two opponents, Chillicothe and Washington C. H.

Dick Robinson, booking games for the Athletic club, is still angling for a fray with Waterloo.

DOG CLUB PICKS APRIL 4 AND 5 FOR BIG FIELD TRIAL

Plans of the American Wildlife Institute for organization of various county associations and clubs into a local unit was explained by Ed Rausenberger, sportsman, at a special meeting of the Pickaway Bird Dog club held Tuesday night in the Leach Motor Co. garage.

He gave members of the club an interesting address on the Chuckor partridge, the bird sportsmen plan to introduce in the county this spring. Information Mr. Rausenberger obtained at the Institute meeting last week in Washington, D. C., showed the bird would be ideal for this type of country.

The club's annual spring field trials have been definitely set for April 4 and 5. They will be held at the Kinderhook site.

JACKSON EDGES WALNUT VARSITY

Speakman's Bucket in Last 30 Seconds is Decisive

Jackson-twp boys were primed today for county tournament competition after bumping off the fighting Walnut-twp crew, 25-24, in a thriller on the Fox Post Office court Tuesday evening.

Jackson meets Washington-twp in the tourneys' first game.

There were never more than four points between the teams at any time. Walnut led 14-10 at half-time. A basket by Speakman, Jackson guard, in the last 30 seconds of the Buckeye conference contest when it turned back the University of Dayton 32 to 23 at Dayton.

Walnut girls, one of the four teams to get into the girls' tourney, gave Jackson a lesson, 38-7. Walnut is the only team in the county able to plaster a defeat on the Darby girls.

COUNTY STUDENT WINS GRAPPLING HONORS AT O. S. U.

A Pickaway-twp athlete is pushing all competitors in intramural circles of Ohio State University.

Mace Brown is recognized as the heavyweight wrestling champion of the University in the class B division.

Brown came through his final match in the "heavy" ranks with colors flying pinning Grant Walbott of Cleveland in 3 minutes and 2 seconds.

He came out fast to nail his taller opponent with a footballer's leg drop and immediately slapped on a half Nelson combined with a crotch hold. The up-state grappler struggled furiously but he was completely subdued by the fast and strong Pickaway lad.

Coach "Spike" Mooney of the wrestling team sees great prospects for this newcomer. Considering the fact that Brown has had very few lessons in wrestling, his showing was outstanding.

Enemies aren't so bad. They slander us, but they aren't the ones who come and tell us about it.

States rights seem to be determined largely at gubernatorial elections. It can hardly be claimed that Georgia is being "intimidated" by a federal bureaucracy.

SWITZERLAND GAINS TOP PLACE IN BOB-SLED RACE

GARMISCH - PARTENKIR - CHEN, Germany, Feb. 12—(UP)

Piloted by Pierre Musi, son of the Swiss president, Switzerland captured the highly coveted four-man bobsled title of the fourth winter Olympic games today.

America's entries scored points in the unofficial standings when J. Hubert Stevens of Lake Placid, N. Y., making his asserted final competitive run, piloted the U. S. No. 1 bob to fourth place, while Francis Tyler, also of Lake Placid, steered the No. 2 sled to sixth.

MARIETTA AND CINCINNATI NEAR TWO LEAGUE TITLES

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12—(UP)—Champions in the Ohio and Buckeye conferences were on the verge of being crowned today.

Marietta college's unbeaten quintet scored its tenth straight Ohio conference triumph last night when it turned back Denison 43 to 17.

With their giant center Fenton on a scoring rampage that was good for as many points as the entire Denison team secured, Marietta had little trouble in gaining its victory.

A fist fight on the floor between Ziegler of Marietta and Christman of Denison enlivened the contest.

Marietta has only three conference contests remaining.

The University of Cincinnati won its seventh consecutive Buckeye conference contest when it turned back the University of Dayton 32 to 23 at Dayton.

Dayton managed to throttle the offensive maneuvers of Bill Raidt, ace Cincinnati forward, and limited him to four points but Lou Cappelle and Bill Lloyd came through in the emergency with nine and eight points respectively to provide the winning drive.

Sixteen fouls were called on Cincinnati and 12 on Dayton.

Ohio Wesleyan retained a mathematical chance of sharing in the Buckeye championship spoils when it played its best game of the season to defeat Miami 22 to 29.

REMEMBER WHEN? THEATRE

AT THE CLIFTONA

Hollywood has discovered the classics.

There are several distinct advantages, producers have found, in drawing upon literature's immortals for movie yarns.

First, and most obvious, is the fact that the stories are exception, else they would not have withstood the rigors of the years.

Secondly, the titles are famous and have box-office drawing power.

COUNTY FARMERS WARNED OF HIGH SEED CORN PRICES

LEWIS SPEAKER AS 25 GATHER IN FARM OFFICE

Moisture Too High for Crop to Withstand Cold; Soil Erosion Aired

Pickaway-co farmers, who purchase seed corn, will pay exceptionally high prices in the opinion of R. D. Lewis of the crops department, O.S.U., who spoke on hybrid corn Tuesday evening at a meeting of young farmers in the Farm Bureau offices.

The speaker explained a survey over Ohio showed an average of 20 per cent of moisture, an amount too high for the corn to withstand the sub-zero temperatures. He warned the farmers to make extensive tests before planting the corn they have saved for seed.

Twenty-five farmers attended the meeting.

Fertility of Pickaway-co soil is reduced about one per cent each year by crops and erosion, according to figures compiled Tuesday at the Farm Bureau offices by the county land use planning committee.

The committee is studying the 1929 and 1934 farm census to work out a county crop program through which the fertility of the soil will be maintained.

Further reports of the committee will be given at a meeting scheduled for Feb. 18.

LEGION NOT TO ASSIST IN FIGHT FOR PENSIONS

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—(UP)—The American Legion will not unite with other veterans' organizations in a fight for passage of a general pension law, Ray Murphy, national commander of the Legion, said today.

"That the passage of the bonus payment law will be the signal for a fight for passage of a general pension law is an utterly unfounded fear," Murphy said. "The Legion will participate in no such action."

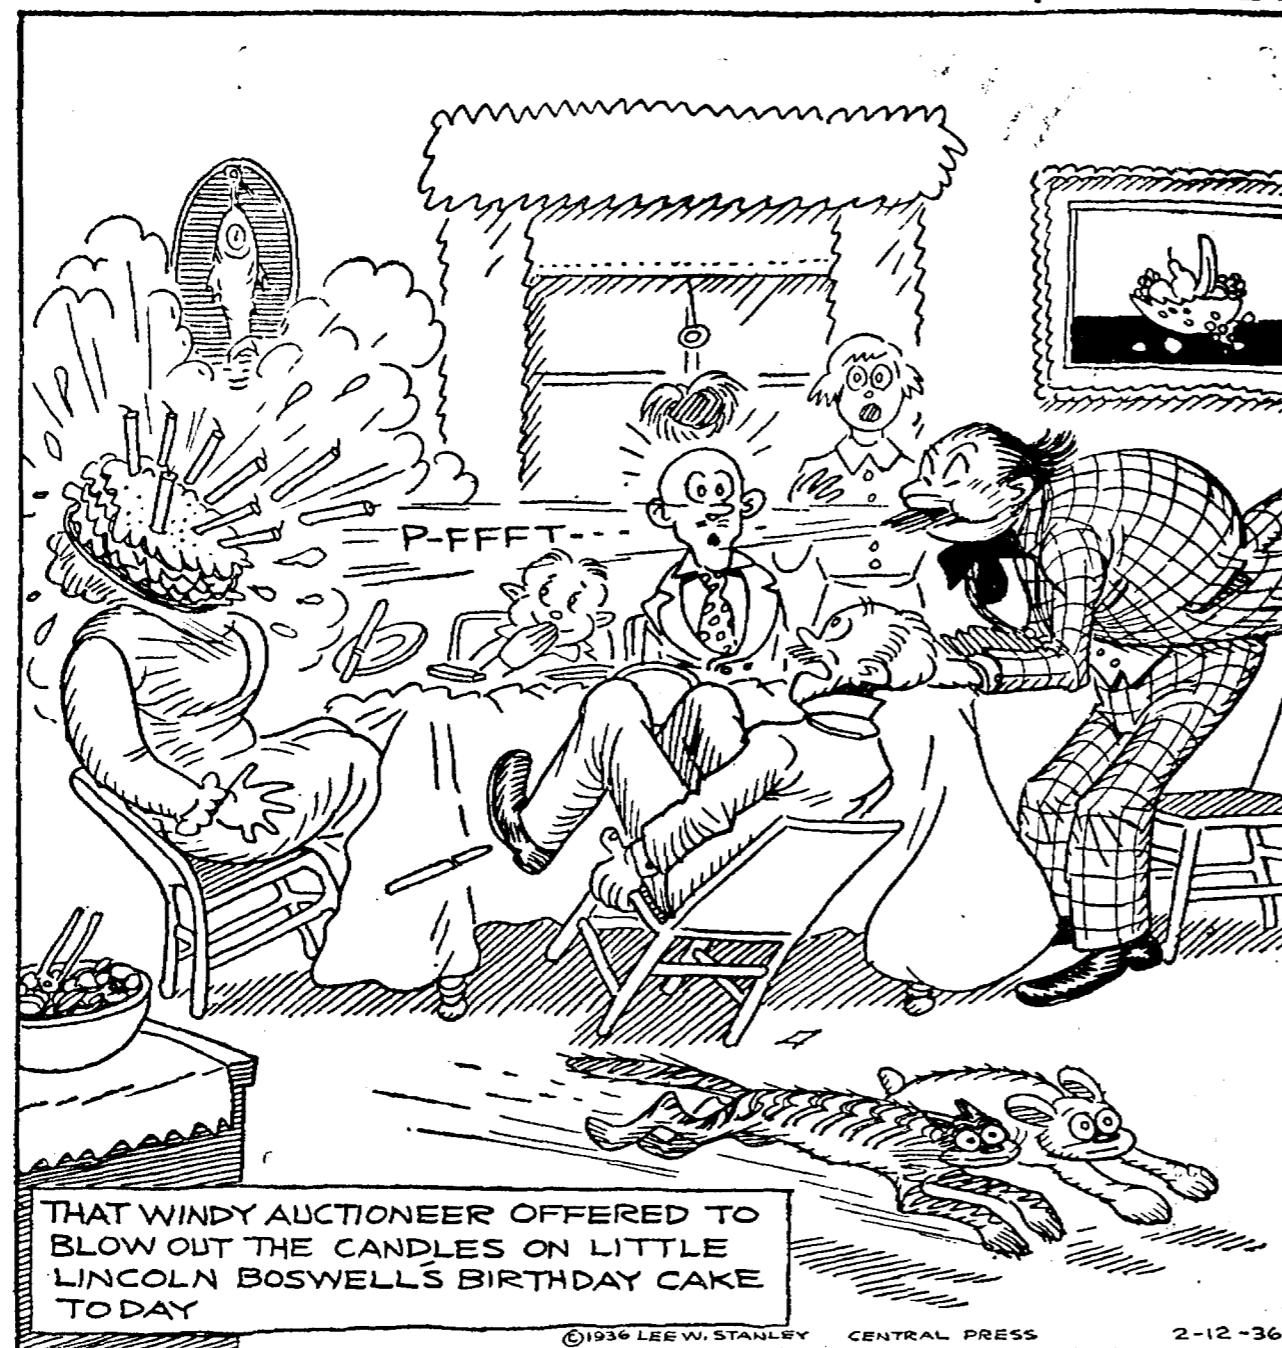

Murphy said only one out of the "many thousands" of letters he had received since his election favored a general pension law.

Diamonds Valued at $5,000 Stolen From Couple

CHICAGO, Feb. 12—(UP)—Jackie Coogan, former movie actor, and his fiance, Betty Grable, 18-year-old screen actress, were robbed of diamond rings valued at $5,000 by gunmen who stopped their automobile in the loop early today.

The actors, whose romance has received wide publicity since he inherited $1,000,000 on his twenty-first birthday, have been appearing at a theater here. They were returning to their hotel from a supper club at another hotel when gunmen forced their car to the curb.

"One of the men, a goodlooking, well-dressed young fellow with a black muffle below his eyes, came over to the car and pointed a big black gun at me," Coogan told police. "Then he got into the car and shoved the gun into Betty's face."

Dropped Ring to Floor

"I'll never forget it as long as I live," Betty exclaimed, continuing the story. "I was so nervous I dropped by engagement ring on the floor."

The gunman found the $4,000, five carat diamond, took a diamond ring valued at $1,000 and $50 in cash from Coogan, dashed back to his car and sped away.

Coogan said he first noticed a car following him as he drove up Michigan-ave after leaving the hotel where he and Miss Grable had been dancing. When the car attempted to curb his machine, Jackie said, he sped up with his pursuers close behind.

"I crossed the bridge, turned around and came back into the loop with the other car still following," he related. "I turned several corners but the other driver finally drove against my car and pinned it against an elevated pillar."

"Then this fellow jumped out with the biggest blackest revolver I ever saw. He said, 'Take it easy, Jackie, this is a stickup.' Then he told Betty to give him her ring."

Suspects Viewed

Miss Grable dropped the ring and the gunman turned on the light in the car to find it. Coogan said he would be able to identify the robber. He and his fiancee went to police headquarters to view pictures of suspects.

persons afoot at 6:35 a.m. A passerby saw the fire, but his general alarm that summoned fire equipment from neighboring towns was too late.

Woman Leaps, Dies

The dead were a man, identified as Harry Gerlach, of New York and an unidentified woman. The woman jumped from a third floor window, her night dress afame, and died 15 minutes later in the hospital.

Strange scenes were enacted as the flames roared and crackled in the early dawn. Piercing shrieks emerged from the inferno. Some guests made ropes of bedclothes and slid to the yard beyond the hotel and the street in front. One six year old boy, a calm figure in night clothes, strolled down a fire escape and dropped into the street. He was taken to the hospital, suffering from exposure.

Gerlach was trapped in his room. By the time firemen reached him, he had died of smoke inhalation and burns.

Low water pressure and freezing temperatures handicapped the fire fighters. Water froze on the street and in the hotel yard and on the ruins.

those who permit shirking will be suspended or discharged as applied to the workmen.

Face Drastic Rule

"Employees discharged for these reasons will not again be employed by the WPA either on the same or another project nor will they be certified for employment to any other government agency which is participating in the work program unless they can demonstrate that the discharge was not warranted," Watson ruled.

If discharged men interfere with projects, the WPA will expect the county or city authorities to maintain discipline on the projects. If the local governments fail to cooperate, then the projects will be closed.

District directors are responsible for seeing that every WPA employee puts in a fair day's work in return for his security wage.

Motorists saw either two or three figures parachute out of the bomber. An army air corps ambulance was sent from here to the scene of the crash.

Army officials did not immediately name the occupants but were checking up.

rite-son" twist to Borah's Illinois candidacy.

"Sen. Borah has definitely entered the Illinois primary for president and, if nominated, will be the first Republican candidate for president from Illinois since the election of Gen. U. S. Grant," said Carl Bachman, chairman of the national Borah-for-President committee.

Born in Illinois

"Sen. Borah was born on a farm about five miles northeast of Fairfield, Ill., therefore he is a favorite son of that great state. The Borah family were all farmers and outstanding citizens of their community. The senator was one of a family of 12 children."

The statement recounted Borah's schooling in Illinois before he departed for the University of Kansas at Lawrence and thence to Idaho.

Borah now is formally entered in the Ohio and Illinois primaries and has sanctioned convention delegate campaigns in other states including New York and Wisconsin. He probably will enter the primaries but is reported to be doubtful about Pennsylvania because of lack of funds.
